U.S. Arms To Force Russ to Choose Peace

UN Forces In Korea On the Run

Mass Assaults Drive Allies From Positions

TOKYO, Dec. 16.—(AP) — Allied beachhead forces abandoned Hamhung today to the Chinese Communists pounding against them in masses of "sea wave" attacks.

The defenders withdrew from the wrecked industrial city into a tight ring around Hungnam port on the Sea of Japan, six miles to the southeast.

Demolition charges blasted the heart of Hamhung before the pullout.

Terror-stricken North Korean refugees swarmed by tens of thousands across frozen fields and down roads toward the allied beachhead.

As the last American soldier left Hamhung at 12:30 p.m. a Red Korean flag flapped out over one house.

Field dispatches indicated the withdrawal was made according to plan into defences in depth to the shore.

The city lay open to Chinese Communists who watched from outlying ridges as demolitions sent towering clouds of black smoke into the sky.

Then the Chinese swarmed into the Hamhung suburbs.

The Chinese pressed allied defenders into their shrinking beachhead with attacks that overran forward positions by sheer weight of manpower masses.

SAME TACTICS

"They are throwing great groups of people in columns at one point in our line," Maj.-Gen. Robert H. Soule said.

"It is the same 'sea wave' tactic they used in China (to rout Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists).

(A security blackout has been clamped on over-all operations of the 10th Corps, but Moscow radio has quoted the North Korean Reds as saying the 10th Corps is evacuating the beachhead by sea.)

While the Allied troops fought off Communist assaults or crouched in snow-lined foxholes awaiting attack, the U.S. Navy's big guns pounded Communist troops swarming along the coastal roads converging on Hungnam.

SHIPS IN ACTION

Gunfire from the Allied fleet had not been mentioned the last day or so in field despatches. But again the warships moved up and down the coast, hurling steel at the enemy.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN
. . . declares emergency state

Emergency Proclaimed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP)—President Truman today proclaimed a state of national emergency, summoning the nation to marshal its strength against the threat of "Communist world conquest."

Truman signed the proclamation at 8:20 a.m. MST. His action was announced by Stephen Early, acting press secretary, five minutes later.

The proclamation called all Americans to a united effort to build up the nation's armed forces and throw the "full moral and material strength" of the United States into the protection of its freedom.

The White House released a long list of laws, carrying extraordinary powers, which it said automatically became effective upon signing of the declaration.

RE-ASSERT POWERS

But many of them were merely re-assertions of powers already held by Truman under the Defence Production Act and other post-war legislation.

Further, Early said, it is uncertain whether Truman will use some of the Emergency powers.

The proclamation is a part of Truman's effort to get production-speeding, inflation-curbing machinery in motion behind a rearmament program aimed at forcing Russia to choose peace instead of war.

In a major address last night, Truman heralded the proclamation as intended to call on "every citizen to put aside his personal interests for the good of the country." He called it a first step toward "rapid expansion to full mobilization if that becomes necessary."

The White House said powers available in an emergency include authority to lengthen hours in army arsenals to requisition ships, call the Coast Guard Reserve to active duty, make temporary promotions in the armed forces, waive competitive bids on defence contracts, and authorize war-risk insurance.

"I summon every person and every community to make, with a spirit of enlightened resolve, whatever sacrifices are necessary for the welfare of the nation," Truman said in his proclamation.

SALIENT POINTS OF PRESIDENT'S ACTION

1. A national emergency was proclaimed in the United States.
2. Expansion of the armed forces, vast defence production and wage-price controls was ordered.
3. Americans were warned only hard work and sacrifice can halt Russia.
4. New, higher taxes were forecast.
5. Two more national guard divisions were ordered into service on Jan. 16, as the first step in expanding the armed forces to 3,500,000 men and women.
6. Price controls on "a number of materials and products . . . important to defence production and the cost of living" were to be imposed immediately. The first control orders were due during the day.
7. Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric Co., prepared to take over immediately as director of the new office of defence mobilization in charge of production, procurement, manpower, transportation and economic stabilization. His precise duties were to be outlined at a conference with the president today.
8. Production of planes, combat vehicles and electronics equipment for defence was ordered increased by five times its current rate within a year.

Truman Speech Said Proof of Aggression

LONDON, Dec. 16.—(BUP)—The Communist press of Europe charged today that President Truman's declaration of a national emergency was proof that United States is preparing for aggressive war.

Red Press criticism also was aimed at the Atlantic Pact talks, to be held in Brussels, Belgium, next week. Plans will be completed for including Germany in a European defence force commanded by General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

London's Communist Daily Worker headed its story on Mr. Truman's talks: "U.S. war threat spreads to the west."

The French official Communist newspaper, L'Humanite, said Mr. Truman's declaration was "a new step toward war."

Der Morgen, Russian-licenced Berlin newspaper, said the national emergency is "only another step on the way of planned and systematically groomed war hysteria spread by Washington."

Party Leaders Back State of Emergency

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(UP)—Congressional leaders of both parties today expressed immediate support of President Truman's state of emergency speech.

Many believed, however, that the president did not go far enough in his orders for expanding the armed forces and tightening economic controls.

Republicans generally wanted more men in the armed services and stricter curbs on the nation's economy.

Senate Republican Leader Kenneth S. Wherry, Neb., predicted selective wage-price controls will not work and that ceilings on all industries will be necessary.

He said Mr. Truman's speech may have been aimed at "preparing the people for an all-out defence effort."

"This means total mobilization," Wherry said.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Mass., agreed. He said selective wage-price controls will only dislocate industry, and that the president should impose controls on all goods if he thinks them necessary.

Other Republicans supported Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in his appeal for full mobilization.

DEFENCE mobilization office with duties of directing production, procurement, manpower, transportation and economic stabilization is big new job given to General Electric's Charles E. Wilson. Appointment was made by President Truman.

Vast Rearmament Program Scheduled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 —(AP)— President Truman today put production-speeding, inflation-curbing machinery in motion in the United States behind a rearmament program aimed at forcing Russia to choose peace instead of war.

As a first step toward "rapid expansion" to full mobilization if that becomes necessary," Truman announced he is declaring a national emergency calling upon "every citizen to put aside his personal interests for the good of the country."

For members of two more National Guard units, that means a call to active service in January. For young men, stepped-up draft inductions are in order on the road to a 3,500,000-man armed force for the United States.

For the man on the street, the new accelerated program involves selective price-wage controls on defence and cost-of-living items, higher taxes, longer work days in factories and on farms, curtailed civilian production and sharp cutbacks in government non-defence spending.

Production Speed-Up

The president put General Electric's Charles E. Wilson in charge of an office of defence mobilization, giving him responsibility for directing production, procurement, manpower, transportation and economic stabilization.

It will be Wilson's job to see that within a year the United States is turning out planes at five times the present rate of production—a step up to somewhere between 18,000 and 24,000 planes a year compared with the 100,000 top production during the Second World War.

Truman promised a four-fold increase in combat vehicles, including tanks, and four and a half times as much electronic equipment as now is being turned out.

To start this speed-up, the House of Representatives shouted its approval yesterday of a $17,809,000,000 military fund bill. Senate passage is expected next week. Military officials said they will go back to Congress for at least $5,000,000,000 more to spend before June 30, upping the year's total to about $47,000,000,000.

Future Depends On It

Grimly, Truman told the country in a radio address last night:

"The future of civilization depends on what we do—what we do now and in the months ahead."

He spoke before a backdrop of military reverses in Korea and a political rupture of Congress, where Republicans of both houses had called formally only a few hours before for the ouster of State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Despite this, Truman said, the country is united in defence of freedom.

Truman said war is not inevitable, but he ruled out appeasement to avoid it. Instead, the free countries must "create military forces strong enough to convince the Communist rulers that they cannot gain by aggression."

Covers Wide Range

The proposed controls, not yet officially announced, could cover such products as automobiles, where the government's efforts to halt price increases not only were rejected by General Motors and Ford, but followed with boosts by Chrysler and Nash.

Cost-of-living items conceivably could include food and clothing but there was nothing definite on this from official quarters.

Truman said that where price controls are clamped on, "the government will also undertake to stabilize wages, as the law requires." Price-wage standards would be set in fields where there were no compulsory controls, with everyone concerned asked to converse the standards.

Insurance Rates Drop For Alta. Car-Owners

Lower car insurance rates have been announced for Alberta automobile owners who use their cars for pleasure.

According to statement of the Western Canada Underwriters' Association, this pleasure driving class constitutes approximately 45 per cent to 50 per cent of all private passenger car owners.

The saving in 1951 will be $10.50 in Edmonton for five-point coverage on the lower-priced line of cars.

In other areas the figure will range between $7.00 and $10.50, depending on the place of residence.

DEDUCTIBLE CLAUSE

The reduction is based on a $50 deductible clause for collision insurance but similar rates apply where $25 deductible is purchased. But for $100 deductible the saving will be smaller and there may even be a slight increase.

The select class benefiting most from the changed rates are owners of private passenger cars used mainly for pleasure and without any driver under 25 years of age.

Where the driver is under 25, rates will be increased in 1951. On the lower-priced lines, for five-point coverage with a $50 deductible collision clause, the increase is $1.50.

Import Controls Will Be Eliminated Jan. 2

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—(CP)—Canada's emergency import controls, imposed three years ago to conserve dollars, will be swept out of existence Jan. 2.

The trade department yesterday announced that all controls on capital goods, such as steel, trucks, heavy machinery needed to equip factories, will be eliminated that day.

The finance department already has announced that remaining controls on consumer goods such as textiles, leather goods and foods, also will be lifted Jan. 2.

That will bring to an end a program that has been to some extent instrumental in boosting Canada's reserves of U.S. dollars from a low of $500,000,000 to an all-time high of $1,500,000,000.

It also has been instrumental in bringing more new factories to Canada. Foreign industrialists, finding that the Canadian market was closed to their product, decided to erect manufacturing concerns inside Canada to escape the import restrictions.

Officials believe even though the controls are being ditched, these factories are here to stay.

Canada's trade, particularly with the United States, has vastly increased since the controls first were imposed.

Canada is nearing a balance in her trade with the United States.

Rail Strike Said Over

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP)—A high-ranking union official said today that the railway strike which hobbled transportation in the United States for four days has been settled.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said that agreement on all issues was reached here late last night. He did not say how the union, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, fared in the reported agreement.

Settlement of the strike followed close on the heels of a request by President Truman that striking trainmen return to work in the interest of national defence.

The trainmen have been in a wage-hour dispute with the carriers for 21 months. Last August the army took over technical control of the roads to avert a walkout by both the trainmen and railway conductors.

The conductors, however, have not been involved in this "wildcat" strike.

New Stamp Issue

OTTAWA, Dec. 16—(CP)—A new stamp issue will be issued Feb. 1 to give recognition to Canada's commercial fishery resources, Postmaster General Rinfret said yesterday. It will be a $1 postage stamp, depicting a typical fisherman hauling in his net in an open boat.

Railway Wage Terms Expected Early Next Week

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP)—Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock's report settling final terms on railway wages and hours is expected to be issued early next week.

The report has been completed and was due to be sent to the disputing parties about the middle of this week. But it has been held up largely through mechanical difficulties in reproducing a large quantity of material attached to the findings.

Mr. Justice Kellock, member of the Supreme Court of Canada, was named by the government in October as arbitrator to lay down binding terms of settlement in the wage-hour dispute that precipitated a general railway strike in August.

Storms Affect Phone Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company said yesterday that magnetic storms and atmospheric disturbances have blotted out most radio-telephone service to Europe. The AT & T would not attempt to predict when conditions might improve. But they hope to be back to normal some time this week-end.

King Winter Pulls Trick

Instead of pushing a warm Pacific air mass up to the north, as the weatherman predicted, the King left it hanging just a little north of Calgary leaving Edmontonians to the mercy of colder-than-usual weather. About 20 degrees colder.

Temperatures never got any higher than zero yesterday, the high recorded at 5:30 a.m. From then on they began a gradual drop until 4 a.m. this morning when the mercury showed six below.

As for today, it won't be much warmer.

Forecast is cloudy, "not quite" so cold, light winds and a high of 10—that's right 10, above.

And as for Edmonton tomorrow —by this time the weatherman was mumbling—it's going to be the same. Cold spell is going to last for three or four days.

ENTOMBED 54 HOURS

Miner Saved by Same Beam Which Held Him Prisoner

By ELMER C. VOGEL

SELLECK, Wash. Dec. 16 —(AP) — His life saved by the same huge beam that held him prisoner 400 feet underground for 54 hours of torture John Wolti was clawed to freedom by rescue crews last night.

The miner, who had lived one year for every hour he spent pinned in the Big-4 coal mine, was weak, pain-wracked and near a state of shock when brought to the surface.

His right arm was crushed and his face covered with a grimy, three day growth of beard. Etched into his face was a record of the agonizing, doubt-filled hours he had spent in what rescuers were sure until early yesterday was his tomb.

Wolti was caught in an avalanche of rock and timbers Wednesday when the mine roof gave way. Several other miners escaped, but they were sure he had been swept to his death by the slide.

And he would have been, too, Wolti said, except for a huge 12-by-12 timber. It held him securely, but it and others fell around him in such a manner that they held off the other debris.

"It got cold, then it got colder," he recalled after his arrival in hospital.

"A long time went by A hell of a long time. Then I heard some noise. I whistled. I yelled as best I could. I don't know whether they heard me.

"Then I kind of gave up. I didn't think I could make it. I passed out. Then I came to and heard more noise. I yelled and talked to them. They heard me this time."

That was early Friday.

At the mine entrance, word came back to his wife, who had been told there was practically no hope at all, that her husband had been heard.

Mrs. Wolti sobbed with joy and no did many hardened onlookers.

All day the rescue crews clawed at the dangerous rocks and timbers in a little three-by-five working space. Wolti carried on a running patter of comment. He even joked grimly.

Then, at 7.20 last night came the welcome signal of six bells and six more bells. It meant they were bringing Wolti out.

He came up on a dirty coal car, barely conscious.

Mrs. Wolti stepped forward and sobbed. Big John heard her and tears rolled down his cheek.

A rescue worker said reassuringly:

Wolti smiled weakly, as though in assent.

MARLER GETS FIFTH TERM AS AFA CHIEF

CALGARY, Dec. 16.—(CP)—Roy C. Marler of Bremner was elected to his fifth consecutive term as president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture here yesterday at a directors' meeting which voted to retain the same executive officers who acted in 1950. George Church of Balzac was named first vice-president and K. V. Kapler of Strome, second vice-president.

The three-day annual convention ended yesterday with a brief address by Mr. Marler in which he paid tribute to the farmers' union of Alberta.

He said he didn't want the "feeling" to go out that the A.F.A. didn't appreciate the strength of the primary organizations.

Earlier, one or two delegates charged the F.U.A. was attempting to "dominate" the AFA by seeking to seat six instead of three directors.

Text of President Truman's Speech

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—(AP)—Following is a partial text of President Truman's mobilization address last night:

I am talking to you tonight about what our country is up against and what we are going to do about it.

Our homes, our nation, all the things we believe in are in great danger. This danger has been created by the rulers of the Soviet Union.

For five years we have been working for peace and justice among nations . . . against this movement for peace, the rulers of the Soviet Union have been waging a relentless attack . . .

In June, the forces of Communist imperialism broke out into open warfare in Korea. The United Nations moved to put down this act of aggression, and, by October, had all but succeeded.

CHINESE ARMIES

Then in November, the Communists threw their Chinese armies into the battle against the free nations.

By this act they have shown that they are now willing to push the world to the brink of a general war to get what they want. This is the real meaning of the events that have been taking place in Korea.

That is why we are in such grave danger.

The future of civilization depends on what we do—on what we do now, and in the months ahead . . .

Here are the things we will do:

First, we will continue to uphold, and if necessary to defend with arms, the principles of the UN — the principles of freedom and justice.

FREE NATIONS

Second, we will continue to work with the other free nations to strengthen our combined defences.

Third, we will build up our own army, navy and air force and make more weapons for ourselves and our allies.

Fourth, we will expand our economy and keep it on an even keel.

Now, I want to talk to you about each one of these things.

First: We will continue to uphold the principles of the UN.

We have no aggressive purpose. We will not use our strength for aggression . . .

HIGHLY DANGEROUS

Though the present situation is highly dangerous, we do not believe that war is inevitable. There is no conflict between the legitimate interests of the free world and those of the Soviet Union that cannot be settled by peaceful means. We will continue to take every honorable step we can to avoid general war.

But we will not engage in appeasement.

The world learned from Munich that security cannot be bought by appeasement . . .

We do not yet know whether the Chinese Communists are willing to enter into honest negotiations to settle the conflict in Korea. If negotiations are possible, we shall strive for a settlement that will make Korea a united, independent and democratic country. That is what the Korean people want, and that is what the UN has decided they are entitled to have.

Meanwhile, our troops in Korea are continuing to do their best to uphold the UN . . .

GOOD ACCOUNT

I am confident that our military forces, together with their comrades in arms from many nations, will continue to give a good account of themselves . . .

The danger we face exists not only in Korea. Therefore, the second thing we are going to do is to increase our efforts, with other free nations, to build up defences against aggression on other parts of the world. In dealing with the Korean crisis, we are not going to ignore the danger of aggression elsewhere.

There is actual warfare in the Far East, but Europe and the rest of the world are also in great danger. The same menace—the menace of Communist aggression—threatens Europe as well as Asia.

To combat this menace, other free nations need our help, and we need theirs. . . .

The United States, Canada and the 10 nations of western Europe who are united with us in the North Atlantic treaty, have already begun to create combined military defences. Secretary of State (Dean) Acheson is flying to Europe on Sunday.

JOINT DEFENCE

He and representatives of these nations will complete the arrangements for setting up a joint army, navy and air force to defend Europe. The defence of Europe is of the utmost importance to the security of the United States.

We will continue to provide assistance to European countries, and to other free countries in other parts of the world, because their defence is also important to our own defence.

The Communist rulers are trying their hardest to split the free nations apart. If they should succeed, they would do staggering damage to the cause of freedom. Unity with our allies is now, and must continue to be, the foundation of our effort . . .

Working together, we hope we can prevent another world war.

BIG JOB AHEAD

In order to succeed, we in our country have a big job ahead of us. That is why the third thing we must do to meet the present danger is to step up our own defence program.

We are expanding our armed forces very rapidly.

We are speeding up the production of military equipment for our own armed forces and for our allies.

We have a large navy. We have a powerful air force. We have units around which a strong army can be built. But measured against the dangers that front us, our forces are not adequate.

On June 25, when the Communists invaded the Republic of Korea, we had less than 1,500,000 men and women in our army, navy, and air force. Today, our military strength has reached about 2,500,000. Our next step is to increase the number of men and women on active duty to nearly 3,500,000.

I have directed the armed forces to accomplish this as soon as possible . . . In addition to these men and women on active duty, we have about 2,000,000 more in the National Guard and the reserves who are subject to call.

As part of the process of achieving a speedier build-up, the number of men to be called up under the selective service system has been raised, and two additional National Guard divisions are being ordered to active duty in January.

At the same time, we will have a very rapid speed-up in the production of military equipment. Within one year, we will be turning out planes at five times the present rate of production.

Within one year, combat vehicles will be coming off the production line at four times today's rate. Within one year, the rate of production of electronics equipment for defence will have multiplied 4½ times.

These will not be weapons for our own armed forces alone. They will constitute an arsenal for the defence of freedom. Out of this arsenal, we will be able to send weapons to other free nations, to add to what they can produce for their own defences.

And in this same arsenal, we will provide a large reserve of weapons to equip additional units in our own armed forces whenever that may be necessary.

EXPAND FACILITIES

We will also expand out training and production facilities so as to make possible a very rapid expansion to full mobilization if that becomes necessary.

It will require hard work.

It will require us to make a lot of changes in our ordinary ways of doing things.

And this brings me to our fourth big job. In order to build the military strength we need, we will have to expand our production greatly. We must also prevent inflation and stabilize the cost of living.

If we are to make the weapons we need soon enough, we shall have to cut back on many lines of civilian production. . . .

HIGH TARGET

We must set very high targets, and be willing to make an all-out effort to reach them. Workers will be called upon to work more hours. More women and more young people and older workers will be needed in our plants and factories.

Farmers will have to set higher production goals. Business men will have to put all their know-how to work to increase production.

A defence effort of the size we must now undertake will inevitably push prices up, unless we take positive action to hold them down.

We have already taken a number of steps. We have put restrictions on credit buying. We have increased taxes. I hope that the congress will enact an excess profits tax at this session . . . I have also requested that recommendations be prepared, for early submission to the Congress, to put the increased cost of defence as nearly as possible on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

NEW BUDGET

I have also instructed the director of the budget to reduce the non-military expenditures in the new federal budget to the minimum required to give effective support to the defence effort . . .

The government is starting at once to impose price controls upon a number of materials and products. These will be mainly items important to defence production and the cost of living.

In those fields where price control is imposed, the government will also undertake to stabilize wages, as the law requires.

In the immediate future, a series of control orders will be announced by the economic stabilization agency.

In addition, the agency will announce fair standards for prices and wages in those cases where mandatory controls are not imposed . . .

The chiselers will not be allowed to get by.

CENTRAL CONTROL

As we move ahead with this mobilization effort, there will be increased need for central control over the many government activities in this field.

Accordingly, I am establishing an office of defence mobilization. I am appointing Mr. Charley E. Wilson to be director of this office. Mr. Wilson is resigning as president of the General Electric Company to take this job.

In his new position, he will be responsible for directing all the mobilization activities of the government, including production, procurement, manpower, transportation, and economic stabilization.

The government is also moving forward with preparations for civil defence. I have appointed former governor Millard Caldwell of Florida to be federal civilian defence administrator. . . .

Our freedom is in danger.

WE MAY FORGET

Sometimes we may forget just what freedom means to us. It is as close to us, as important to us, as the air we breathe. Freedom is in our homes, in our schools, in our churches.

It is in our work and our government and the right to vote as we please. Those are the things that would be taken from us if Communism should win.

Because our freedom is in danger we are united in its defence. Let no aggressor think we are divided. Our great strength is the loyalty and fellowship of a free people.

We pull together when we are in trouble, and we do it by our own choice, not out of fear, but out of love for the great values of our American life, that we all have a share in. . . .

In this time of danger, each of us must accept an individual responsibility for the good of the country.

UNLAWFUL STRIKE

Unfortunately, at this moment a railway union and a large number of its members are out on an unlawful strike that has partially paralyzed our railroad system.

This action has already begun to slow down our industry. It is interfering with the movement of troops; it is holding up equipment for our fighting forces; and our civilian population has begun to suffer.

This strike is a danger to the security of our nation.

As commander-in-chief, therefore, I call upon the union and its striking members to return to work immediately.

SET AN EXAMPLE

Our fighting men in Korea have set an example that should inspire us all. Attacked by superior numbers, and in the bitterest of winter weather, they were resolute, steady and determined. Their steadfast courage in the face of reverses is one of the most heroic stories in our country's history.

As I speak to you tonight, aggression has won a military advantage in Korea. We should not try to hide or explain away that fact.

By the same token, we should draw renewed courage and faith from the response of the free world to that aggression. What the free nations have done in Korea is right, and men all over the world know that it is right.

Whatever temporary setbacks there may be, the right will prevail in the end.

NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Because of all these things I have been talking about with you, I will issue a proclamation tomorrow morning declaring that a national emergency exists.

This will call upon every citizen to put aside his personal interests for the good of our country. All of our energies must be devoted to the tasks ahead of us. . . .

The American people have always met danger with courage and determination. I am confident we will do that now, and, with God's help, we shall keep our freedom.

Police Force Veteran Dies After Attack

One of Edmonton's veteran police officers, Det. J. B. Arial, died today at 2:45 a.m. in Misericordia hospital following a heart seizure. He suffered a heart attack at 12:30 p.m. while on duty.

Detective Arial, 47, of 11134-127 street was born in St. Boniface, Man. He came to Edmonton with his family in 1908 where he received his schooling.

In September, 1926 he joined the police force and served until 1946. At this time he received his promotion to detective and has been with the detective squad since.

Before joining the police force Detective Arial was a constable with the CPR and previous to this was with the fire department.

SPOTLESS RECORD

Chief Reginald Jennings said, Detective Arial was a fine conscientious officer with a spotless record. He was a credit to the force and the squad is going to miss him."

Detective Arial is survived by his wife and three children, Bernard, Richard and Mary Alice. There are five brothers Remie, Aldous, William, Edward, all of Edmonton and Joseph of New Westminster.

Two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Auger and Mrs. J. C. Turgeon are Edmonton residents and another sister Mrs. J. James lives in Springfield, Ore.

Funeral services will be held at St. Andrew's Catholic church. Arrangements are being made by Connelley and McKinley funeral directors.

Mr. Humphreys was also named chairman of the Children's Home Board.

Following officers were also elected: L. W. White, honorary president; H. P. Justason, first vice-president; Dr. E. F. Donald, second vice-president, and E. F. McGarvey, secretary-treasurer.

Other elected Kiwanis directors for 1951 are N. Adams, J. L. Devoin, R. Eastwell, D. C. Howell, A. Macdonald, Dr. L. McIntyre, J. R. Munro, F. R. Pike, C. G. Purvis, Dr. O. Rosirop and G. F. Taylor.

Members retiring from the board are W. T. Cromb, F. W. Thyne and C. H. Chapman.

Big 'Family' Has Party

One of Edmonton's biggest "families"—3,000 strong—last night jammed the Sales Pavilion for its first Christmas party.

From seven to midnight, Swift Canadian employes, families and guests enjoyed varied entertainment, presentation of employes awards, a visit from Santa with a gift for each child, and dancing.

General Manager J. C. Peter said the "Family Christmas Party" replaces the firm's annual summer picnic.

Eight Swift service awards were presented by Superintendent L. E Morck, and Office Manager G. C. Farr presented six suggestion awards.

Entertainment included a number of acts by Heavener School of Dancing, magician Frank Betts, and roller skating artists Eric Berryman, Rose Ann Todrick and Gordon Riddell. Ralph Horley acted as master of ceremonies.

Teachers' Group Asks Grant Hike

Alberta Cabinet Hears Briefs Recently Okayed at Meets

Grants up to half the cost of school administration costs were sought by an Alberta Teachers' Association delegation which conferred with the provincial cabinet yesterday.

No decision on the possibility of increasing grants by part or all of that amount was expressed by the government officials.

But delegations were assured that school boards, financing new school construction from current revenues rather than debenture borrowings, will receive a 12½ per cent grant of the costs from the government in the 1951 year.

Same system of a 12½ per cent grant and 12½ per cent loan which is now provided by the government for school construction from borrowings will be extended to help finance construction from current revenues.

Alberta School Trustees' Association whose delegation also met the cabinet yesterday asked an increase of grants sufficient to cover half the overall cost of school construction in Alberta.

Resolutions approved by both organizations at recent general conventions were presented to the cabinet.

SCHOOL MATTERS

The ATA delegation asked to be consulted before new legislation governing school matters is enacted, and sought government action in improving the qualifications of teachers, with a two year minimum training period.

Amendment to the County Act to provide for an elected school board, able to requisition and control school funds, was also recommended to the cabinet by the teachers' representatives.

County Act revision was also sought by the school trustees' representatives. They asked an amendment to the act, providing that a plebiscite of ratepayers would be required before the county system of local government could be established in a specified area.

PLEBISCITE FAVORED

Cabinet members said the government favored a compulsory plebiscite after such a system of local government had been in operation in a specified area for four years.

Besides seeking government assistance to cover half the cost of new school building, the School Trustees' Association representatives asked an increase in the salary of school superintendents, grants for snow removal on bus routes, and increases in the grant provided by the government under the School Borrowing Assistance Act.

Farm Club Winners Get Prize Money

Prize money of $142 was distributed to members of Winterburn Junior Farm Clubs at their annual meeting this week in Winterburn Hall.

In addition to the prize-money, two cups were presented, one by the FUA local for best sample of barley shown in 1950, and one by E. J. LaPerle for best sample of wheat shown 1950.

Both were won by Harvey Wild, who prepared samples for the Edmonton District Composite Grain Club Show last Oct. 28.

Allan Bevington and Harvey Appelt were elected presidents of the Swine and Grain Clubs respectively. Harold Morris was elected vice-president and John LaPerle secretary of the Swine Club. Grain Club's new vice-president and secretary are Harvey Wild and Barbara Bevington.

B. J. Whitbread, club supervisor and district agriculturist, and H. J. Fulcher, assistant, reviewed club activities for the year.

Club sponsors who made possible the cash prizes for the competing juniors were Bernie Brown, C. Snyder, William Lesyk and J. M. Lamarre. Chairman was Raymond Harris.

Protection of Women

Prosecutions against cafe owners and others who flout the law that female employees who work between midnight and 1:30 a.m. must be provided by their employers with transportation to their homes is the new policy of the Board of Industrial Relations and this firm stand is to be lauded.

Members of the Board say that too many women are being molested during these late hours. As an instance, they cite the case of the waitress in a 97 street cafe who was attacked by two men after she left work on the night of November 3.

Strict enforcement of this rule regarding transportation is to be strongly desired and one is permitted to wonder why it was not enforced long since.

Anything that operates towards the protection of women is desirable and the entire community will support that view.

But if the community is serious in its wish to protect women, it will go much further than to support the Board of Industrial Relations in its stand against erring employers.

It will demand that the courts themselves take a much graver view of the offences that arise from these late hours of employment.

For example, as this newspaper remarked very pointedly some days ago, the sentence of three years imposed upon the two men who attacked the 97th street waitress in the night of November 3 was utterly indefensible.

The crime of rape carries the maximum penalty of death. Even attempted rape is punishable by seven years imprisonment.

And yet two young beasts are permitted to ruin the life of a young girl and get away with three years in penitentiary.

The place to stop these offences is in the courts.

If the maximum penalty of hanging were imposed just a few times, such animals would miraculously recover their powers of self-control.

Outside Technical Evidence

There has been widespread criticism in Edmonton, and presumably elsewhere, of the failure of the Board of Transport Commissioners, probing the Canoe River wreck, to call technical experts other than those employed by the Canadian National Railway.

We do not doubt for one minute that these experts told the truth in their testimony.

Nevertheless, the heavy preponderance of railway evidence and the almost total lack of outside evidence, in highly technical matters, was bound to create the suspicion in the public mind that something is being "hushed up."

It is already being said that employes of the CNR would hesitate to go all out in branding any passenger car equipment belonging to their employers as faulty or obsolete.

The Edmonton Bulletin does not subscribe to that view. But it is held, if the whispers are to be believed, fairly widely.

This is not a wholesome position for the nationally-owned railway to occupy.

Nor is it a compliment to the thoroughness of the investigating Board that equipment experts from the United States or from modern coach and car manufacturers were not called.

The Divinity of Jesus Christ

The entire Christian religion stands or falls on the divinity of Jesus Christ.

If Christ was merely a great moral teacher, promulgating such excellent sentiments as the Golden Rule which has appeared in almost every enlightened religion since the dawn of time, then the Christian Faith is no more than a superior system of ethics and Christ would rank, as a philosopher, somewhere below Aristotle.

If Christ is anything less than the Divine Son of God, "equal in all things" to His Father and perfect man as touching His mother," then the Christian Faith is only a sham.

For the moral teaching of it is not the end and purpose of Christianity. The moral teaching of Christ is only the means to an end.

The prime purpose of Christianity is to rid humanity of sin. One lives according to Christ's precepts, not as an end in itself, but that one may draw nearer to Christ and, in drawing nearer to Christ, may draw nearer to God.

Sin is only harmful as it separates man from God.

Christ paid the sin debt of the world so that man could be reconciled with God.

If Christ is not God, that whole viewpoint, the basis of the Faith, is meaningless.

The evidence of Christ's deity can be discussed in no more than general terms in this brief space. Nevertheless, here are five broad headings under which the claim to divinity can be studied:

1. Christ's divinity was accepted by the earliest believers, not only of the Gentile, but of the Jewish-Christian churches.

This belief in the divinity was based, by those who lived their lives with Him, on the evidence of their senses. They saw Him crucified. They saw Him risen from the dead. They saw Him ascend to heaven.

2. Christ taught His own divine Sonship.

In His description of the Last Judgment in St. Matthew, He describes Himself as sitting upon the throne of the world.

He says: "All things have been delivered unto Me of My Father."

3. Christ's sinlessness.

Even His enemies admitted that He was a perfect man without sin. Judas admitted it. Pilate so found it.

Alone among the whole human family He did not sin.

4. Christ's miracles.

The evidence of Christ's miraculous power is overwhelming. From the five thousand He fed with the loaves and fishes, to the hundreds He healed along the Judean roads, voices rise up everywhere to attest His divinity.

5. Christian experience.

For nearly two thousand years, Jesus Christ has given spiritual life and vital power to millions upon millions of faithful people. Cowards have become fearless martyrs, the weak have become strong, the dull have been given spiritual understanding.

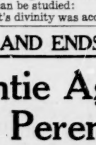
And all this through the power of Jesus Christ whose birthday we are preparing to celebrate.

ODDS AND ENDS — By Harold L. Weir

Auntie Agatha's Present Is a Perennial Problem

Tucked away in the roster of every family I ever heard of is a person who answers, when she feels like it, to the name of Auntie Agatha, Emily or Maud.

Now Auntie Agatha, Emily or Maud whatever she calls herself, may be one of many types.



WEIR

The composite Aunt Agatha, Emily or Maud would be a maiden lady of approximately the age of 53. She would be a cheerly lady with thin, greyish hair, always a little out of place. She would have faded moist eyes, a magenta nose and a slightly foolish expression on her face. She would faint readily and be subject to terrific headaches.

This composite auntie would be constantly in a state of mild martyrdom and her nephews by marriage would dearly love to fetch her a salutary kick in the behind, except that such violent action would immediately wreck their home lives since auntie is believed by all her blood relatives to have suffered something awful in her past.

The manner in which auntie has suffered has never been quite clear to me. There is always the legend of an absconding lover or something. Sometimes auntie has lost all her money. Sometimes she has lost her dearest friend. But all these things are dark secrets to be whispered only after the children are in bed.

My personal opinion is that auntie secretly did a stretch in jail for a trifle of genteel bootlegging. But I shall not stress the point because such stressing would be vile heresy.

Auntie is a "good women." That is in the very preamble of the family constitution.

I mention auntie at this moment because auntie is now very much in everybody's thoughts.

For what to give Auntie Agatha, Emily or Maud for Christmas is one of the perennial problems that leave scars on the heart, just as "Calais" was engraved on the heart of Queen Mary.

Many Types

Mind you, if Aunt Agatha, Emily or Maud always ran true to type, the problem would be simple.

I have described the composite Agatha, Emily or Maud and that there were no sports or variations among the genus one could merely wrap up a bag of dried lavender, lots of good large crying hankies and a Maltese cat and call the thing square.

But, unfortunately, auntie does not run true to type.

Sometimes Auntie is not a spinster at all but a widowed lady of long standing. In this case her feelings are particularly tender because she is always mooning about the long lost and any indiscreet remark may bring about a burst of tears.

Occasionally auntie is not vague and gentle at all but waspish of tongue and virulent of temperament.

In such cases, the ideal Christmas gift is a bridle or a pear of anguish or a good brisk liver stimulant.

Another form which Aunt Agatha, Emily or Maud sometimes assumes is that of the mild lush.

I don't mean that auntie gets actually pie-eyed. But one or two convivial ones will loosen auntie's mouth and set her giggling inordinately and, if you don't watch her, she will sneak into the kitchen to Dick Smith a few fast ones.

For such aunties I unhesitatingly recommend a case of gin and two dozen lemons. It may be a bit expensive, but you won't see the old girl for a week.

Other Kinds

Now I wouldn't want you to think that I am describing all aunts in this essay. Not at all. There are literally millions of aunts who are actually human beings. I refer exclusively to the Agatha, Emily and Maud type and while that description may be a bit vague everybody will know what I mean.

The really disheartening thing about buying Christmas presents for these aunties is that when they get those presents they will do one of four things with them;

1. They will lose them.
2. They will give them away.
3. They will take them downtown and exchange them for a flannelette nightgown.
4. They will pack them away in moth balls from which they will not emerge until the Judgment Day and a hell of a lot of good they'll be to anybody then.

Smiles

Entering a chemist's shop a girl asked how to take a dose of castor oil without tasting it. The assistant said he would look up some suggestions, but meanwhile would the young lady like to try a new lemonade powder they had just got in. The young lady would, and when the glass was finished the assistant asked, with a smile: "Well, did you taste it?"

"Good Heavens!" gasped the girl. "Was the castor oil in that lemonade? I wanted it for my small brother."

Letters to the Editor

Russian Trap

Editor, Bulletin—The Soviet Union was absent from all meetings of the Security Council from February to August.

When North Korea attacked June 25 there was no Russian representative present to discuss the measures to be taken. Consequently the U.S. knew that it could intervene without risk of being stopped by a Russian veto.

A question which hitherto has not been answered satisfactorily is why Russia denied herself the opportunity to cast a veto, especially as she later appeared as North Korea's lone defender in the Security Council. And during the whole month of August (when Jacob Malik was president) branded the U.S. as the real aggressor in Korea.

If Russia had the intention to oppose U.S. intervention, why didn't Malik return to the meeting in time to stop the Americans? Obviously there seems to be only one possible explanation. The aggression in Korea was planned with a certainty that the U.S. would intervene. The Russians set a trap in Korea and the Yankees put their foot in it.

"This trap was so skillfully set that no one suspected its real purpose. If the U.S. should be involved in a prolonged war with 400 million Chinese, it would tax its resources to the breaking point. Aid to Europe would be impossible and U.S. help to other parts of the world in case of aggression would be nil.

Municipal Spending

Editor, Bulletin—As Premier Manning and the minister of Education have complained at recent conventions that increased grants have not decreased the rural tax rate, it might be well to face the facts.

The Premier states that in the current fiscal year the municipal districts will receive $17,107,000 from provincial revenues, but he does not advise that every cent has strings attached that generally forces increased municipal expenditures.

For example, road grants are only given if the district agrees to spend a percentage on what must be a limited mileage, leaving thousand of miles of roads to be built from municipal money, this of course forces up the mill rate as the district must first meet the grant on the limited mileage.

Since farms are now fully mechanized the districts must spend much money on snow removal on which no grant is paid, although the government gets much additional revenue from fuel taxes in the winter months. Our roads are now used only by cars and trucks from which the government collects all the taxes leaving the districts to construct most of the roads.

If the government gave the grants to the districts in cash so that the councillors elected for that purpose could take care of the roads they could govern themselves so that the mill rate could be kept reasonable except for the higher costs that appear to be uncontrollable.

Although school grants were increased $850,000 in 1950 the total cost of education increased by $3,760,716 over 1948 the last full year on record at the time the 1950 estimates were being prepared by the government. They must have known that the nearly $3,000,000 increase over the additional grant must increase taxation.

It appears unfair for the Premier to blame the present set-up of municipal and school administrations, when the full remedy is in the hands of his government by suspending the freeze on road grants and carrying out the will of the people in respect to education.

Peculiar Behavior

Editor, Bulletin—So far as this writer has heard, or observed in the press, no attention has been drawn to one aspect of our Russian allies' peculiar behavior in the struggle we have all been so closely watching in Korea.

The USSR is a fellow-member with us in the United Nations.

Northern Koreans, without reason, excuse, or warning, invade their neighbors to the south with great severity and savagery, shocking the whole world. It became necessary for the United Nations to act . . . Russia did the opposite to what was clearly her duty in this matter. That duty should have impelled her to support her fellow-members in the United Nations, and assist, with force if necessary in stamping out the foul action of the invaders.

It must be a marvel to many thinking and loyal people in every country, that the representatives of the Kremlin could have the cruat to continue to sit in seemingly peaceful conclave at UN meetings, while wishing in their hearts that its effort would be unsuccessful and be destroyed.

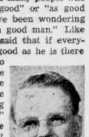
THE VOICE OF ONE — By DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Too Many Fit Popular 'Good Man' Definition

I have met so many people who claim to be "good" or "as good as," that I have been wondering what makes "a good man." Like the man who said that if everybody were as good as he is there would be no trouble in the world. Or the saying, "There is no such thing as a bad boy." Or, "I can be good without going to church."



MORLEY

Was Paul a good man while he was beating up the Christians? Was Marcus Aurelius a good man? Monks in the middle ages kept his "Meditations" and a cardinal had them translated into Italian that they might "quicken the faith of the faithful." Yet Marcus Aurelius sought to exterminate the Christians.

Was Torquemada, the inquisitor, a good man? He doubtless was loyal to his faith. Was Jean Lemaistre a good man? He had a reputation for justice, but he urged the burning of Joan of Arc.

Pendennis Description

Did Sir Hugh Trumpington lead the good life as described by Major Pendennis? "'Did you see that dark blue broughamn, with that tremendous stepping horse, waiting at the door of the club? You'll know it again. It is Sir Hugh Trumpington's; he was never known to walk in his life; never appears in the streets on foot—never . . . He is now upstairs at Bay's, playing picquet with Count Punter; he is the second best player in England as well he may be; for he plays every day of his life, except Sundays (for Sir Hugh is an uncommonly religious man) from half-past three to half past seven when he dresses for dinner.' 'A very pious manner of spending his time,' Pen said laughing . . . 'God, sir, that is not the question. A man of his estate may employ his time as he chooses.'"

So many people we call good have never done anything good. They haven't helped anybody. They haven't served their community. If they have any special talents they haven't used them. They are often self-centred and lazy.

Sloth And Industry

Jesus was very hard on lazy people. He condemned to hell the rich man who didn't help Lazarus. Although Dives never did Lazarus any harm. Jesus also cast into outer darkness the man who didn't use his talent and the virgins who neglected to put oil in their lamps.

On the other hand, Jesus commended the industrious fellow who multiplied his wealth, the friend who kept hammering at midnight until he got his bread, and the unjust steward who was so efficient in the service of his false god. While Jesus does not suggest they are "good," yet he admires their diligence. Remember the curse on Meroz because the inhabitants "came not to the help of the Lord against the mighty."

One reason for our quick equation of goodness with laziness and stupidity is derived from some medieval pictures we have seen of hell and heaven. I remember one which showed some poor sinners in hell suffering torments from the very active little devils.

The saints in heaven reclined in such a state of unrelieved boredom that I wondered why they did not get bed sores. It led me to meditate on Stevenson's epigram, "If your morals make you dreary, depend upon it they are wrong."

Pagan Believes In Human Nature

The pagan attitude is that human nature is all right. The sinner has been led into sin by bad friends who are bad because they have bad friends. Home influence or social environment are responsible.

The Christian believes that all man's deeds are touched with sin. "There is none righteous, no, not one." Man's only goodness comes from God. Even after conversion Paul called himself "the chief of sinners." Thus the Christian should never have the Pharisaic self-satisfaction which says, "Lord, I thank Thee that I am not as other men," but rather, realizing his shortcomings, he says, "God be merciful to me a sinner."

Elmore Philpott

'Hard-Boiled' Comes Back On Question of Man's Progress

Not long ago I wrote that, just as the snuff had passed, and just as duelling and slavery had been abolished, so, too, would war be overcome.

I suggested that "Mr. Hard Boiled" would challenge my reasoning and, sure enough, one has.

Philpott

"Would you permit Mr. Hard Boiled to knock the stuffing out of your arguments?" he writes.

"Snuff was a passing fad, like chewing gum, smoking, beer or canasia, . . . Duelling was also a fad peculiar to a class. Slavery was never universal, and is not abolished by fiat. It may be only at low ebb and ready to increase. American slavery was abolished by the cotton gin.

"War was always there, as far back as we can ascertain. It will always be there, because its basic causes cannot be removed either by well-meaning reformers or religious fanatics. The fundamental causes of war are selfishness (an aspect of self-preservation), emotionalism (a characteristic of the human species), and the colossal stupidity of man, who is only a dumb animal like the rest of them, all the wishful thinkers to the contrary notwithstanding.

Is Our Side Really Different

"The only possible thing approaching permanent peace is Pax Romana, and both Joe (Stalin) and Harry (Truman) are trying to achieve it and one of them will if either side can win a decisive victory.

"I know you believe that 'our side is different,' but try to remember you are a privileged 'Roman.' Try the worm's eye view of the African living under Apartheid or the Asiatic under his landlord, or of a Korean whose home and family were smashed while being 'saved from the Reds,' and the difference between the sides might appear insignificant."

I admire writing that packs a real punch—so take my hat off to Mr. Hard Boiled.

But here are further reasons why I think his argument is shallow;

If man is "only a dumb animal" and predestined to fight war after war because of that fact, how come that the once-most-warlike peoples have become the most peaceable?

Scandinavian Example Cited

The Swedes, the Norwegians, the Danes were the terror of Europe at the time of the fall of the Roman Empire. They attacked and raped and ravaged worse than any savages of today.

But later they educated themselves to a better way of life. In the end, even their kings could not get them to fight each other. Peace grew up out of the hearts of these people. Now you could not get any of them to fight, except in self-defence.

The nature of the Scots and English did not change in the twinkling of an eye. But before the union of their two countries, they fought each other hundreds, yes thousands of times. They have never fought each other since. Why?

My conclusion is that wars are inevitable under a wrong political and social relationship, but next-to-impossible under the right one, which must be acceptable to all the people.

A peace imposed on the Pax Romana model would be no real peace. Uncle Joe or Uncle Sam might be able to conquer the whole world by sheer force. But the "peace" which would result would be hell on earth. It would be the "peace" of the penitentiary, the stability of the straitjacket.

Man is not a dumb animal. Man literally has within him the "breath of God." He has self-govern-ment. He can repudiate claim his life on earth, or he can begin really to live.

COMRADE OTTO

Radio Uses Ridicule As Anti-Red Weapon

By JAMES E. WARNER

The United States again is unlimbering one of its best weapons against Soviet propaganda in Germany—humorous ridicule.

RIAS, the American radio station in Berlin, by popular request of listeners in the Soviet zone, is reviving "Comrade Otto Pieckewitz," a clown who on previous programs delighted his listeners by arguing Communist ideology and party propaganda slogans to their illogical and absurd conclusions.

For five months, during his last appearance, "Comrade Pieckewitz" was on the air every Saturday in the role of a "200 per cent Communist." RIAS discontinued the program Sept. 16. Since then there has been an unending flood of letters from Soviet zone listeners demanding his return.

Appreciation By Mail

"He has helped us to remember how to laugh," is the tenor of the majority of letters.

No Communist slogan is too obtuse for the "comrade" to explain laboriously, naively — and hilariously. When Red propaganda blared forth the benefits of its legislation guaranteeing "the right of women to work"—this is a slave state!—the "Comrade" took the air to discuss the "benefits" of this "great" guaranty. His next talk was deft. He brought down the house.

Ponderously, the "comrade" declaims Soviet superiority and Communist conquest of every field, including sports, the housewife's kitchen and the uranium mines.

His intentionally naive but effective ridiculing treatment of these Russian propaganda claims, which every one — particularly those under the Soviet yoke — know to be untrue, results in uproarious entertainment for those who get no such comedy relief from Russian sources.

An example of how he operates is his description of the Soviet zone import-export program: "We sell bricks to Italy in exchange for lemons. The lemons go to Denmark for butter. We trade the butter to Sweden for steel. We send the steel to Russia in exchange for clay which we use to manufacture more bricks for Italy."

Veteran Oil Driller Honored in Wetaskiwin

WESTASKWIN, Dec. 16—Lieutenant Governor Hon. J. J. Bowlen paid tribute to George Lloyd Stafford, associate of Wetaskiwin's Devon Drilling Company, at a recent ceremony here.

It was Stafford's father who drilled the first oil well in what was shortly to be the province of Alberta, in 1905, at Waterton Lakes.

Mr. Stafford himself drilled the first crude oil producer in the Turner Valley field, which was brought into production first as a gas well in 1930, and later turned into a crude producer. It is still reported to be producing.

FORMED COMPANY

In 1948, G. L. Stafford, along with several men, Paul Moeson, Henry Vellner and Alfred Neff, formed Devon Drilling Company and drilled their first hole in August of that year.

Since that time they have drilled 18 holes, five of which struck oil. This is considered a good record, since they were nearly all wildcatters.

THE MESSAGE

A WORLD PREPARED

Once again the world is looking forward to the coming of Christmas, the season of joy and goodwill.

We look, as men have always looked, with eager anticipation to a time when we may cease our hurried round for a little while to ponder the wonder of the difference which His coming has made to the hearts of all people who believe in Him and rejoice that the promise has been fulfilled.

Throughout all of the Old Testament we find a strain of expectancy, a hope which persisted, when all else had died but hope, that some day the Messiah would come.

His coming was longed for, looked for and all the way through the weary centuries the way was being prepared for His coming. Because no other race had so high a conception of God, no other race had such high ethical and moral standards it was impossible that Jesus could have been born outside of Jewry.

The place to which He came was ideal for the spread of His gospel, a little country which was the natural bridgehead linking the three great continents of Europe, Africa and Asia. It was no idle chance which made Bethlehem of Judea the best place for Jesus to be born. There was a brief interlude of peace in the world into which He came, the days of chaos were over even if only for a time.

As Milton sings:

"No war nor battle's sound,
Was heard the world around;
The idle spear and shield were high uphung;
The hooked chariot stood
Unstained with hostile blood;
The trumpet spake not to the hostile throng;
And kings sat still with aweful eye
As if they surely knew their Sovran Lord was nigh."

Earlier or later He would have found the world engaged in a life or death struggle and His way would have been blocked by hostile armies and navies, but the world was locked in a far flung peace, a peace sure and unbroken and men could relax and listen to the song of the angels.

The old religions had lost their grip on the hearts of men. The old gods of Rome were dead or dying. New gods were imported with strange and exotic rites in their worship.

Anxiety for the morrow was written deep in the hearts of men, all the world seemed wrong and headed for disaster; and then in the darkest hour there came a cry in the night "Fear Not;" and a voice of hope rang out in Galilee and men's hearts leaped up prepared and ready for His coming and as we look forward to His birthday with anticipation may He find us ready and prepared. Then will He enter into our lives bringing rest and peace.

COME TO CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Strathcona to Hear Address by Moderator

Moderator of the 76th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Dr. F. Scott MacKenzie will speak at Strathcona Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning.

Dr. MacKenzie also will address the First Presbyterian Church congregation Sunday evening.

Dr. MacKenzie is in the city in the course of a Dominion-wide tour.

GENEROUS SUPPORT

He commented on the need for more generous support of the church and for more young men to prepare for the ministry.

"I feel encouraged however, with the spirit prevailing everywhere and with the way the church has faced the challenge of these times," Dr. MacKenzie said.

He took part in an induction service for Rev. Edwin J. White at First Presbyterian Church last Thursday. Dr. MacKenzie will leave Monday for the Pacific coast.

Canada Makes New Passport Rulings

OTTAWA, Dec. 16.—(CP)—The External Affairs Department announced today that Canadian citizens now may enter Austria without Allied Force permits so long as they are in possession of valid passports. No visas will be required. However, Canadians will still require occupational forces' travel permits — so-called grey cards — when travelling into or through the Soviet zone of Austria.

Strikers Request Medicine Man To Lay Curse

LAGOS, Nigeria, Dec. 16—(Reuters)—Some 20,000 striking West Africans here yesterday called in a "Juju Man" (medicine man) to lay a curse on strike-breakers with his incantations.

Most of the strikers are employees of the United Africa Company, Biggest European trading concern in West Africa, and the stoppage has brought trade and shipping to a standstill in this British colony.

The men demand a 12½ per cent cost-of-living allowance.

CANUCK HAS WORD FOR IT

WINNIPEG, Man.—(BUP)—John Hockman, a 27-year-old Winnipeg soldier, doesn't mince words to describe Tokyo, Japan.

Hockman, a former medical corpsman with the Canadian Army in Europe, and now doing liaison work with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, wrote his sister here that Tokyo was "one of the smelliest places in the world."

He added, however, that the food was good, the scenery wonderful, and that being with Americans made life in the Japanese capital worthwhile.

Church Talks A-Defence

The mental and spiritual defences against atomic power are to be expounded tomorrow in Christian Science churches.

They will be discussed under the title "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" These are typical passages from the Lesson-Sermon: "And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water: and they ceased, and there was a calm." (Luke 8: 24).

"Jesus said: "I knew that Thou hearest me always;' and he raised Lazarus from the dead, stilled the tempest, healed the sick, walked on the water." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 134).

Commonwealth Meet Slated Soon In London

LONDON, Dec. 16.—(Reuters)—Commonwealth prime ministers will converge on London in the next fortnight for a 10-day conference on the world situation.

When assembled they will consider all aspects of the present international crisis affecting members of the Commonwealth family of nations.

Prime Minister Attlee of Britain will preside over the talks which will cover Commonwealth foreign policies, economic, financial and defence problems.

For two prime ministers, the meeting opening Jan. 4 will be this first post-war Commonwealth conference. Robert Menzies of Australia and Sidney Hollant of New Zealand were not in office when the last prime ministers' conference was held here in April, 1949.

Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada will attend and he is expected in London Jan. 1 or 2. He attended the 1948 conference of Commonwealth prime ministers although he was not prime minister of Canada at the time.

The Canadian government then was headed by the late Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King who took ill while in London and sent a call for St. Laurent to replace him at the conference. St. Laurent, then Canada's external affairs minister, travelled to London by air and sat in on the conference.

At the 1949 conference, Canada was represented by External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson.

The only Dominion Prime Minister who will not attend the conference is Daniel Malan of South Africa.

He recently had a serious operation and will be represented at the talks by T. E. Donges, minister for the interior.

Donges is leading the South African delegation at the United Nations and is expected in London from New York next week.

Allied Oil Announces New, Changed Policy

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Allied Oil Producers Ltd., heretofore a substantial participant with Pacific Petroleums in Redwater oil production, Thursday announced that henceforth it would operate under a changed policy, with emphasis on the development of gas reserves rather than oil.

The Allied announcement came as a decision from the Alberta government on gas export was momentarily expected.

Allied announced that its first venture in the new operation would be a 50 per cent interest in Allied PRNG Lothrop No. 1, in lsd 7-10-51-3W.

OPERATING MEDIUM

Peace River Natural Gas is the operating medium for the establishment of gas reserves for Westcoast Transmission Company.

Westcoast has announced that it plans to take gas from northern Alberta for use in Vancouver and Pacific northwest. Thursday was the deadline for all arguments by all applicants.

The Allied announcement was made by S. R. Smith of San Francisco, president.

The Waterglen well being drilled by McCarty and Coleman of Texas was to have tested 21 feet of D-3 zone of 5,335 to 5,356 late yesterday.

No results had been announced by midnight last night, but there were some strong indications the test had been successful.

The contact of the D-3 was officially given as 5,315 feet. This is 224 feet higher than the reef contact in Globe MJ No. 1, six miles due south.

First five feet were tight, the next 11 feet were oil stained to the bottom. Five feet were not reported.

Conditions were highly indicative of a D-3 oil accumulation and another coral reef oilfield were expected by some sources. Independents most vitally affected by the Waterglen well are Cal-North and MJ Petroleums.

U.S. Will Reopen Aluminum Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The United States yesterday agreed to reopen promptly the proposal to buy Canadian aluminum for the armament program.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer announced the decision at the close of a two-day conference with Canada's trade minister, G. D. Howe.

The national production authority, which operates in Sawyer's department, also agreed to authorize delivery of 1,300 tons of steel for the building of ore carriers and tankers as well as facilities for producing titanium.

In addition, the NPA took immediate action to allocate 8,000 tons of steel products monthly from March through June to help complete 11,000 new freight cars which are used interchangeably across the Canadian-U.S. border.

The defence agency also undertook to provide a steady flow of steel products to Canadian "warehouses"—the retail steel outlets which supply most of small and medium-sized plants.

Sawyer said in a statement that he was gratified at the "complete spirit of co-operation" shown by Howe in furthering the joint defence effort. He said he believes Howe "also felt pleased" at the American attitude and added:

"Our two countries have a common objective and are working, and will continue to work, in closest co-operation."

Proposals for the American purchase of Canadian aluminum broke down in late October, when U.S. authorities rejected a Canadian plan under which the U.S. would buy 200,000 tons of the metal from the Aluminum Company of Canada.

U.S. officials explained that the U.S. purchase would, in effect, underwrite an expansion of Canadian plant facilities which would not produce aluminum in quantity for the next two or three years.

In view of the delay, they said, it was decided to put the money into expansion of the American aluminum industry.

Sawyer's announcement that the question will be reopened in discussions starting soon was not elaborated; he did not state what prompted the U.S. change of attitude.

The U.S. allotments of steel are intended mainly to supplement Canada's own supplies to speed the production of the ships and cars needed in expanding steel output; hence the small quantities involved.

Triumph Scored Here By Piano Pyrotechnics

When it comes to breathing fire and brimstone into piano music, Ampero Iturbi is probably without a peer among women pianists.

And for that matter, there are probably few mate concert pianists today who could match the musical pyrotechnics Madame Iturbi displayed in her concert last night at McDougall United Church.

With the possible exception of the opening selection, a Mozart sonata, the program was ideally suited to her dynamic style.

WEAK SPOT

If there was a weak spot on the program, it was Madame Iturbi's rendering of Mozart's Sonata in B Flat Major.

The work is an airy and precise little piece and does not seem quite suited to the artist's intensely dramatic style.

The audience applauded Madame Iturbi to the echo and were well rewarded with two more examples of Spanish music and the most flamboyant version of Rhapsody in Blue I've ever heard.—M.S.

STIRRING SELECTIONS

Particularly stirring were her thundering interpretations of de Falla's "Ritual Fire Dance" and the lesser-known "The Puppet," by Granados.

Madame Iturbi's piano style also has a restless quality which she exploited to full advantage in the rippling "Guadalquiver" (The River) by Infante and Debussy's limpid "Two Arabesques."

This restlessness combined with a dynamic treatment of her musical subject is well adapted to Chopin and Madame Iturbi did full justice to Berceuse, Valse and the inevitable Polonaise in A Flat.

Mendelssohn and Faure were each represented by single selections and the artist turned in pleasing performances of both "Impromutu No. 3" and "Rondo Capriciuos," particularly the latter which is one of Mendelssohn's most dramatic compositions.

This lovely large-family type home consists of 6 large rooms.

The front door leads into an inviting reception hall, which in turn leads into the large attractive living room, with cosy open-hearth fireplace. French doors lead off the living room into a spacious 12'x14' dining room. The large modern cabinet kitchen completes the main floor plan.

The upstairs consists of a master bedroom with a walk-in closet, and two additional spacious bedrooms. An unusually large-family size bathroom finished with the finest of American materials and fixtures, and a bright central hall, from which all rooms lead off, completes the second floor plan.

Last but by no means least is the full-size basement that is divided proportionately, suitable for a games room as well as extra storage room. Gas furnace, thermostatically controlled hot-water tank and automatic pressure system.

There are No. 1 oak floors throughout this home.

The yard consists of three 50'x150' corner lots, fully landscaped and fenced. A large heated garage completes this picture of a spacious home in a spacious community.

This home is conveniently located near the schools. One block to Public School, and four blocks to High School, and also only one block to bus.

Surprisingly enough, the most remarkable feature of this home is the price, which is only $10,500—about $5,000 cash will handle and the balance at $80 per month.

See it from the outside at 15015 90 Avenue.

Anti-Freeze Beats Snow-Shovelling

Radiant Heating System With Water, Ethylene Glycol Works

The chemists have at last beat the snow shovelling problem. And they've done it with anti-freeze—the same stuff that keeps Jack Frost from bashing holes in your car radiator during 30 below weather.

The latest method of de-snowing driveways, sidewalks or truckyard is with a radiant heating system using water and ethylene glycol antifreeze in a network of metal piping, according to an article in the current issue of CIL Oval.

More than 50 establishments in Toronto and about 200 across Canada have kissed the snow shovel and scraper goodbye for this type of snow riddance. These include banks, stores, churches, homes and warehouses, the Oval article states.

One large department store in Ontario capital keeps its 27,000 square feet of truckyards free of snow all winter with five miles of pipeline containing 588 gallons of anti-freeze—the largest installation of its kind on the continent.

COSTS RUN LOW

Operating costs run as low as nine cents a square foot per year.

The snow-beater uses a 50-50 solution of anti-freeze and water heated to an average of 130 degrees Fahrenheit.

At the flick of a switch this solution is pumped through a web of steel pipes imbedded in asphalt or cement.

The system is desigped to handle a melting rate of one inch of snow per hour. Within minutes from the end of all but the worst fall, the whole area will be bone dry.

Last year's loss of life by fire in the United States has been estimated at 10,000, the majority of cases involving children and elderly people.

Farm Fire Losses

The average fire loss per farm in Illinois during 1944-48 was $2,400.

91 SNAKES AT ONCE SAID RECORD LITTER

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — Ninety-one baby snakes, all in one litter and from one mother, believed to be a record for any kind of snake, were born at the California Academy of Sciences here.

The litter queen, a water snake, has been dubbed mother Jack-Pot.

The babies, weighing one-fifth of an ounce each, measured about six inches. Eighty-one are living. Ten were still-born.

Eighty-one is still a record, though according to Dr. Robert C. Miller, director of the academy, who said the nearest runner-up of any kind of snake was a slithery female in New Jersey who in 1912 bore 76 at one time.

Take It Easy On Junior; Minerals Cause Tub-Rings

Don't tell Junior—but he may not be entirely responsible for that ring left around the tub after his bath. It could be caused by minerals in the water.

Because water is a universal solvent there is no "pure" water in nature. Even rain water is not pure since it collects dust particles when it falls and dissolves carbon dioxide and oxygen. The carbon dioxide turns water into a solution of carbonic acid.

When this reaches the earth it in turn dissolves minerals in the soil which are responsible for scale formations in boiler systems, tea kettles and the ring around bathtubs.

Dissolved gases, particularly oxygen and carbon dioxide, cause corrosion in boilers, piping and tanks.

SOLVED IN LAB

Many problems created by minerals and gases in industrial water supplies are solved in the laboratory of a Burlington Ont., firm, said an article in the December issue of CIL Oval.

Water samples from all parts of Canada are sent to the laboratory to be tested. Some samples are subjected to as many as 14 tests before a true analysis is reached.

Once this is done, recommendations are made as to what chemicals should be used to treat the water to make it harmless to the pipes and boilers through which it flows.

Analysis reports on file at the laboratory show that water at Powell River, B.C. is extremely soft containing less than two parts per million of hardness.

In Regina the hardness varies according to seasons and available supplies and hardness values of 765 per million are not unusual.

Two centuries ago, in England, bars of iron were frequently sold by peddlers travelling the countryside carrying their wares.

IN A RUT—THREE-DEEP

HOUSTON, Tex.—(UP)—Police have encountered a burglar who likes his loot in threesomes. In robbing a cafe he drank three bottles of beer and three soft drinks, consumed three bags of potato chips and three pigs' feet and then took three cartons of cigarettes.

Finally he took $1.50—three half dollars—from the cash register.

In the Great Lakes and Upper St. Lawrence River the water is of low, medium hardness while in the Maritimes it is generally quite soft.

EARLY AMERICAN ranch type home is suitable for suburban site where property depth and exposure dictate plan with main rooms looking to rear. This can be developed as garden or can have exposure to lake or river view. Cubage is low because of limited space beneath first floor. For summer occupancy, the Heatilator fireplace would supply sufficient warmth. If occupied all year, could be supplemented by oil space heater or convector hot water system.

Yuletime Caution Urged In Home

Danger of Fire, Methods Of Prevention Are Outlined

By Bob Scharff

Christmas is the gayest season of the year. But, failure to take proper precautions may make you an unfortunate victim of one of the thousands of fires that happen during the holiday season.

Begin with your tree. Although the evergreen is a symbol of Yuletide spirit, it is also the chief source of holiday fires.

It is filled with pitch and resin and, as it dries out, it becomes tinder. Actual tests have shown that an average Christmas tree will burn up in less than two minutes.

This means that you have a roaring blaze before it is possible to call the local fire department. A fire extinguisher may not be a Christmas decoration, but if close at hand, it may be a holiday saver.

KEEP OUTDOORS

Use a "fresh" tree, not one that is dry and tindery. Keep it outdoors until you use it, and set it up only the day that it is to be decorated.

To help keep the tree alive, chop some cuts in the butt end and stand it in a pail of water. If possible place the tree in the coolest part of the house, where it will not block any means of exit, and turn off the radiator nearest it.

There are many so-called methods of flameproofing Christmas trees. However none has ever proved successful enough to receive the approval of National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Sheets of aluminum foil spread around the base provides decorative floor protection and it will lessen fire danger too.

REPLACE CORDS

Check and replace frayed electric cords and sockets used to string lights on tree. Provide a switch some distance away from the tree to turn the lights on and off.

Also watch the house circuits for overloading. Never put a larger fuse in to carry the extra load of Christmas lights.

When no one is in the room with the tree, turn off the Christmas lights. If the needles near the lights start to turn brown, change the location of the lights.

When the needles start to fall, it's time to take the tree down and discard it.

Incidently, use only approved exterior type lights on outdoor trees. Where window lights are used, hold the curtains away from them with tiebacks.

TRAINS DANGEROUS

Although electric trains look nice around the base of a tree, they are a potential source of fire because of sparks. It's much safer to set them up at a distance from the tree.

If you plan to make paper decorations be sure to use the new flameproof paper, available from most large stationery and decorating supply houses.

When there is doubt about the flameproofness of old paper decorations, make a solution from one pound of ammonium chloride in a gallon of water and spray it on.

While it will not make the decorations fireproof, it will reduce the fire hazard by making most types of paper slow burning.

Also, once presents are unwrapped, throw out the paper wrappings immediately.

Christmas is the time for children's plays with their flimsy gauze costumes. To make these costumes and dresses flame-resistant, dip them in a solution of nine ounces of borax, four ounces of boric acid and a gallon of water. Saturate the fabric, wring it out by hand, and allow to dry. If the costume is ever washed, it must be re-treated.

Newsprint consumption in occupied Japan is 23 pounds per capita annually as compared with 113 pounds in the United States.

FIGHTING HOGS ON WRONG END OF WHAMMY

CHICAGO — (UPI) — The modern male hog is a soft, easy-going creature, except when he meets a strange rival in his barnyards.

This pugnaciousness is a real problem for swine raisers but Dr. M. E. Muhrer of the University of Missouri says in the Veterinary Medical Journal that science is bringing peace to the arena.

The boars are put to sleep before being brought together. Thus when they regain consciousness they're still groggy and can't put up much of a scrap.

"By the time they have regained full co-ordination, one boar usually has established his superiority with a few harmless attacks," Dr. Muhrer said.

Studious Trend Shown By 10 Top Realty Books

The ten best books of the year from the viewpoint of real estate in the United States, according to Robert H. Armstrong, of Armstrong Associates, New York, reflect to no small degree the intensive research that has been going on in the real estate field since the end of the war.

They are:

1. "The Impact of Government on Real Estate Finance in the United States," by Miles L. Colean, National Bureau of Economic Research.

2. "Production of New Housing," by Leo Grebler, New York Social Research Council.

3. "Shops and Stores," by Morris Ketchum Jr., Reinhold Publishing Corporation.

4. "Urban Mortgage Lending by Life Insurance Companies," by R. J. Saulnier, National Bureau of Economic Research.

5. "The Business of Home Building," by B. Kenneth Johnstone and Charles P. Joern, McGraw Hill Company.

6. "Community Organization and Planning," by Arthur Hillman, The MacMillan Company.

7. "The New Regional Pattern," by L. Hillesheimer, Paul Theobald, publisher.

8. "Hotel Accounting," by Ernest B. Horwath and Lewis Toth, The Ronald Press Company.

9. "Real Estate Management," by James C. Downs Jr., The Institute of Real Estate Management.

10. "How Did It the Hard Way," by William J. Brede, Home Insurance Company.

Dunn Favorite Over Joey Velez

A professional boxing card, first to be staged here on a Saturday night in a coon's age, commences this evening at 8:30 in the Stock Pavilion.

The principals in the main event, George Dunn and Joey Velez, tapered off their workouts at the Gym-under-the-Gem last night. And the odds on the scrap, which favored Velez at 2-1 earlier in the week, have shifted to 8-5 on Dunn.

Both will enter the ring at about 135 pounds, close to the lightweight limit. Weigh-ins are scheduled for Dr. Fred Conroy's office at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The balance of the card, with probable winners, is as follows

Semi-windup—Benny Geary, Wildwood, over Hal Robbins, Vancouver.
Welterweights—Vic Kostie, Calgary, over Gerry Geary, Edmonton.
Middleweights—Joe Kallis, Edmonton, over Steve Lang, Calgary.
Bantamweights—Bob Bacon, Edmonton, over Jersey Joe Edwards, Amber Valley and Calgary.

Time Out

By Dick Beddoes

BUSINESS IS BRISK

A couple of young business men named George Dunn and Joseph Velez will carve up most of a forecasted $3,000 gate at the conclusion of some fistic festivities at the Stock Pavilion tonight.

They will do this much like you will slice your Christmas turkey. And they will get most of the white meat, which is fashionable when you are a main eventer as these chaps are.

Velez, a keen-sighted financier who makes a prisoner of every buck he earns, will, as a matter of interest, get 25 per cent if the fate exceeds three G's.

That is a fairly healthy payday, one in the neighborhood of 900 potatoes or thereabouts.

But despite the tariff, the promoting combine of Arnold Dickson-Franklin Cockrall-Jackson Berry hopes to get off the hook, financially speaking.

They will do this, I am informed, by charging $2.20 a peek, ringside, and $1.25 a look from a point near the outskirts of North Edmonton.

They will also reduce the free list considerably, making sure that none but their closest relatives and a few sportswriters walk in with complimentary passes.

And the promoters have posted a special guard to prevent all those folks who have been getting past the gatekeepers by posing as electricians, meter readers, and officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals from joining the free loaders.

Business has been brisk at the box office this week and Dickson and his chums are hopeful of selling out the joint, as they say.

FORECASTERS SWEAT

Meanwhile, the professional forecasters are sweating copiously as they attempt to pick a winner in the Dunn-Velez fisticuffing.

How are you going to call the winner? For this fight is a kind of mysterious piece of merchandise, most of the selectors never having witnessed Velez in action, and they have never seen Dunn really pressed.

Myself, I am running around in circles like a bird dog with cotton up his nose.

The movements of Mr. Ernie Farr of Calgary, regarded as the most successful fight promoter on the prairies, are indicative of the trend.

Mr. Farr's success, it might be pointed out in passing, accrues, in part, from the fact that he does not loathe to see his name in print. His philosophy of "I don't care what they're saying about me, just so long as they're saying it" is one the local promoters have not yet stumbled onto.

Now Farr is not a forecaster in the strictest professional sense. That is, nobody pays him for his selections.

But he goes on record so often that there are tea leaves hanging from his ears. And here are his views on the Dunn-Velez affair:

1. Says Dunn is a cutie whom Velez will instantly knock out.

2. Says that while Dunn is a cutie, whom Velez should instantly knock out, Velez is a fighter who can be confused.

3. Says that Velez may get so confused that he may not even be able to beat a cutie like Dunn.

You can sum up Mr. Farr's feelings with the title of a song popular with hummingbirds like Teddy James: "Whatever it is, I'm against it."

In training, neither Dunn nor Velez bothered anybody much, although some of the latter's sparring partners were so apprehensive of homicide that the breeze from his moving gloves frequently blew them down.

Your correspondent believes Dunn can win by merely outboxing his crippled adversary. But I am stringing along with Velez because he carries something besides fists in his mittens.

That commodity is best described as dynamite and it has exploded the mandible of many a good man.

Culmone Rides Pair Winners

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 16.—(AP)— O. L. Nyberg's Hilda made it two straight at Tropical Park yesterday as she sped to victory in the sixth race of the program.

Jockey Joe Culmone had only four mounts on the card but won with two to boost his victories for the year to 360.

Ashdowns' scoring was distributed among Don Douglas, Murray Thompson, Bailey and Knipps.

Bev Bentley Is Brilliant As Caps Blank Quakers

REGINA, Dec. 16—(CP)—Brilliant goalkeeping by Bev Bentley last night gave Regina Capitals a 2-0 shutout over Saskatoon Quakers in a Western Canada Senior Hockey league game before 4,500 fans—largest crowd this season here.

Victory put the cellar-dwelling Caps within seven points of the third-place Quakers.

It was the second straight triumph for the Regina squad since manager Cliff Erhle shook up the team by releasing or trading players and issuing fines for "indifferent play."

HILL RETURNS

The game also marked the first appearance of Mel (Sudden Death) Hill in the Regina lineup this season.

Hill, a former NHL star and with Caps last year, assisted on playing coach George Allen's goal in the first period. Bill Kyle scored the other Regina goal in the third period.

In scoring his first shutout of the season, Bentley turned aside 39 shots, compared with 24 by rival goaltender Jackie Gibson.

BENTLEY SENSATIONAL

He was particularly sensational in the first and last periods when he stopped 15 drives in each—many of a close-in nature.

Caps opened the scoring at 4:58 in the first period when the forward line of George and Cece Allen and Hill combined to beat Gibson.

Murray Parker of Quakers and Vic Myles received minor penalties near the close of the second period for throwing punches, but no scoring resulted.

At 8:48 in the third period, Kyle took a long pass from Myles at the red line. He raced into the clear and beat Gibson with a waist-high shot.

ESKIMO BIG DOMES PLAN SCOUTING TRIP

Eskimo bird-dogs Annis Stukus and Al Anderson will leave on a scouting trip along the U.S. west coast on Christmas Eve. They will look at football players in the Shrine Bowl game (San Francisco, Dec 30) and the Rose Bowl (Los Angeles, Jan. 1).

In addition, the Eskimo scouts will pay a flying trip to Oregon State College in Portland to interview a couple other prospects.

The club's annual meeting will be held early in the new year, being delayed until after coach Stukus and Manager Anderson return.

Ted Williams Signs As Fish 'Professional'

BRISTOL, Conn., Dec. 16—(AP)—The signing of Ted Williams, noted baseballer, to a long team contract as a consultant to Horton Bristol Mfg. Co., manufacturers of fishing equipment, was announced here yesterday.

The new job as a so-called "fish professional" will not interfere with the hard-hitting Boston Red Sox outfielder's baseball career, said Williams and president Graham Treadway of the local company.

But, it was stressed that Ted signed with an eye to the future —"say in five years or so when he checks out of baseball as a player."

Williams, whose bat earns him baseball's fattest salary cheque, is well known among fishermen not only as a proficient fly and bait caster, but as a technician expert in the design of equipment.

Specifically, explained Treadway, Williams—the American league's most valuable player in 1946 and 1949—will assist here in the design of tackles, the testing of Horton Bristol products, and help in promoting the company's conservation and youth programs.

Reached in Florida, Williams told reporters that "next to baseball, fishing has always been my major interest."

BIG DOINGS

Calgary 'Sees' New Arena

CALGARY, Dec. 16.—(CP)—A crowd estimated at 7,000 last night jammed Calgary's new Arena, which in the words of J. B. Cross, president of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede "would be a monument to the people who originated the Calgary Stampede."

Officially welcoming the throng Mr. Cross added his hope "it would be a civic centre for Calgary."

Enthusiasm which at times reached fever height, left little doubt the new Arena, built at a cost of $1,400,000 would fill a long felt need.

A program designed to appeal to every taste brought prolonged applause for the numerous top-flight vaudeville acts presented.

Many participated in the modern and old time dances, with the floor filled for every number.

Tribute was paid by the city of Calgary to the Calgary Stampeders hockey team. Mayor Don Mackay presented each player with a handsome souvenir electric clock with the player's names engraved thereon and the words Allan Cup finals, 1949-50.

Five days will be required to put ice in the rink but it will be all ready Dec. 26 when Edmonton and Calgary hockey clubs meet for the official opening, Mr. Cross announced.

Motorcade To See Mills

Al Mills, also known as Lord Albert or Mr. Murder, depending upon whether he is the hero or villain, returns to Edmonton's rassling colony next week.

He will display his strength against Whipper Will Watson, a fine broth of a lad who used to go by the elegant name of Bill Potts.

Mills, who used to browse over the Camrose farmlands, will be well-supported for the engagement. A motorcade of 30 cars will come in from Camrose to see him perform.

A good cast has been arranged to support the main event.

"CALLING ALL ROOKIES . . ."

Canadiens Dip Into AHL For Defenceman Hugh Currie

MONTREAL, Dec 16.—(CP)—Montreal Canadiens, desperately trying to snap a losing streak, dipped into the rookie barrel again yesterday and came up with No. 16 of the season.

He is defenceman Hugh Currie, from coach LeRoy Goldsworthy's Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey league.

Not all of this great array of hopefuls has remained with the club or has even become officially a part of it.

A couple were farmed out to Cincinnati of the AHL, several have stuck—so far at least—and seven have been called up on lend-lease basis from affiliated amateur clubs.

Three of the last-named category have yet to make their debut with the National Hockey league club.

They have been summoned for duty tonight against New York Rangers.

Canadiens now have an unenviable record of five losses in a row, including two successive shutouts.

Injuries struck hardest at the defence. For the last few games veterans Butch Bouchard, Glen Harmon and Hal Laycoe have been out.

Rookies Tom Johnson and Jim (Bud) MacPherson, with the club all alone, had to carry the burden along with veteran Doug Harvey. Ernie Roche was called from Cincinnati to help.

The lend-lease boys now are getting their chances in droves.

The big call-up for goal producers among the youngsters came Thursday. Summoned were Dick Gamble of Quebec Aces, Bernie Geoffrion from Montreal Junior Nationale and Jean Belliveau, smooth 19-year-old centre from Quebec Junior Citadels.

The latest acquisition, Currie, hails from Saskatoon and has done most of his professional playing in the last four seasons and this season with clubs in the AHL and United States Hockey league.

He had a brief stay with San Diego of the Pacific Coast league. He is 25 years old, stands six feet and weighs 190.

The Week's Wash

This was an eventful week on the sports front, what with the baseball owners applying the frozen boot to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, erstwhile commissioner in more than name, and John (Ox) Da Grosa, Pennsylvania athletic commissioner, calling for the immediate barring of Joe Louis from the ring.

Da Grosa wants the onetime Brown Bomber put on the interdicted list, or some such, before some young fellow scrambles his (Louis') brains for alltime.

Closer to home Flyer coach Frank Currie dropped something of a bombshell on his own account with the announcement that both 'Bing' Merluk and Bill Pettinger may be lost to the club for the balance of the season.

Merluk has a fractured wrist

Pettinger—it has been established—has a cracked vertebrae.

"Merluk may get back in time for the playoffs," Currie hazarded an opinion last night. "Pettinger's a question mark, too."

It's ironical, in a sense, that Flyers, a club that was 'three deep' except in stickboys to start the season, should be down to 14 hockey players who can boast of being in one piece.

Manager Currie shudders when he thinks what might have been, had he not opened the long Western Canada league grind with an 18-man roster.

"We'd be down to 10 right now if we hadn't been so well stocked to start," he said wryly.

Flyers go in against Stampeders tonight in Calgary's Victoria Arena. Let's hope the Cowboys enjoy playing the Currie-men.

They're going to see a lot of the league leaders between now and Jan. 3. In fact Stampeders won't get to play either Regina or Saskatoon in this stretch.

The Calgarians hook Flyers eight times without a break.

In the meantime the locals will shake the southern Albertans long enough to hop into Saskatchewan for one night stands in Regina and Saskatoon. As well Flyers will entertain Caps (for one game), as well as the Stampeders, at the Gardens.

This may not be the screwiest schedule ever to come down the hockey pike. But it'll do 'til one of those Hollywood headshrinkers dreams up a screwier one.

Elsewhere on the WCHL front—notably on the Regina sector—resistance has stiffened.

The Caps hung the collar on Riley Mullen's Quakers last night.

That 2-0 win was the second in a row for the resurgent Reginans. It seems that when manager Cliff Ehrle cracked the whip earlier in the week he made a good job of it

Bill Ramsden, traded away by Ehrle, was in the Quaker lineup. Quakers, oddly enough, were keen to put the snatch on the former Lethbridge junior. His top efforts as a Cap were turned in against the Hub-Town crew . . . and right in Saskatoon, too.

However Ramsden, like all his new found teammates, couldn't get the puck past stingy Bev Bentley.

Operators of teams in the WCHL are more box-office conscious than ever before. Crowds have been 'off' this season, especially in the Saskatchewan end of the four-team loop.

Last night they raffled off a 1934 (that's right) Ford as part of a program aimed at swelling customer patronage at Regina home games. The result was gratifying. More than 4,000 were in unheated Exhibition Gardens.

And the Caps, particularly the acrobatic Bentley, were equal to the occasion. They couldn't have picked a more opportune time to take on like a hockey team that might have a future after all.

HANDICAP STAR NOOR RETIRED TO STUD

SAN YSIDRO, Calif., Dec. 16—(AP)—An Irish horse that made good in the U.S.—the S. C. Howard estate's Noor—was retired to stud at the Howard ranch here yesterday.

The five-year-old 1950 handicap champion of America arrived from a successful climax at Hollywood Park to his big year of racing.

His last triumph was victory last Saturday in the $100,000 Gold Cup Handicap.

Noor returned with two world's records and a flock of track records.

Leafs Juveniles Win 3rd Straight Game

In the opening game of the twin bill, South Side gained a 5-5 tie with Canadians on Nicholl's goal, scored eight seconds from full time.

South Siders had yanked their goalie in favor of a sixth forward, and the move paid off. It was Nicholl's second marker of the night.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made last night that Flyer winger 'Bing' Merluk, left, and defenceman Bill Pettinger may be sidelined for balance of season. Merluk suffered fractured wrist some weeks ago, Pettinger has cracked vertebrae.

PETTINGER, TOO

Merluk 'Out' Indefinitely

There's a good chance that Flyer winger "Bing" Merluk, who suffered a fractured wrist some time ago, will be unable to play again this season.

"At best we don't expect to have him back before the play-offs," Frank Currie, coach-manager of the team admitted last night.

Occasion was an enjoyable get-together at the Edmonton Club, with the Flyer hockey committee playing host to members of the press and radio.

Currie also announced that defenceman Bill Pettinger's injury incurred at Saskatoon three weeks ago, has been diagnosed as a cracked vertebrae.

This means that he will be sidelined indefinitely.

On the credit side of the Flyer injury picture is the fact that defenceman Gordon Watt is back in action. For a few days earlier in the week it looked as though he would have to undergo surgery for removal of his appendix.

In thanking the press and radio for their "splendid support," Jim Paul, manager of the Exhibition Association, sponsor of the Flyers said:

"In my opinion Flyers get the best and most thorough coverage of any hockey team in the country."

Members of the hockey committee in attendance were Gordon McDonald, Barney Stanley and Fred Kemp.

Flyers play Stampeders in Calgary tonight.

Oil Kings In 6-2 Triumph

DIDSBURY, Dec. 16—Edmonton Oil Kings scored a convincing 6-2 win over Calgary Buffaloes of the Western Canada Junior Hockey league in an exhibition game here last night.

Upwards of 2,000 fans saw Mike Kinasewich stake the gang from the capital city to a 1-0 edge in less than 13 minutes of play. Butts never got even again.

Oil Kings led 1-0 after one period, 4-1 at the end of the second, then outscored the Cowtown crew by the odd goal in three in the finale.

Frank Elniski, with a pair of goals, was top offensive threat for the winners. Others who turned on the red light for the Kings, in addition to Kinasewich, were Bruce Dickson, Bill Hodgson and Bill Geary.

Third line of Elniski-Kinasewich-Hodgson proved the most dangerous trio for the Edmonton club. Goalie Buddy Nosa played well behind a defence that offered solid protection most of the way.

Game was fast and bruising, despite the fact that only three penalties were dished out.

LINEUPS

Edmonton—Nosa; Stogryn and Zenko; MacDonald, Geary, Dickson; Hansel, Gilbertson, Hartson, Prince, Kowalchuk, Fraser, Kinasewich, McNicoll, Elniski.

Calgary—Hegg; Severyn and Horne, Smith, Abbott, Brown, Lacombe, Scott, McGhee, Schriner, Middleton, McMahon, Duke, Grimm, Offenbarger, Wilkins, Dunbury, and Shannon, Calgary.

First Period—Edmonton, Kinasewich (Elniski) 12:33. Penalties: Kowalchuk (Harrison, Kinasewich), 3:33; Calgary, Abbott (Middleton, Smith), 6:40; Edmonton, Elniski (Gilbertson, Kinasewich), 11:26; Edmonton, Dickson (Geary, McDonald), 13:40. Penalty Gilbertson.

Third Period — Edmonton, Hodgson (McNicoll), 15:15; Calgary, Duke (Brisson, McGhee), 14:09; Edmonton, Geary, 13:30. Penalties: McNicoll (2).

Famechon Breezes To Easy Victory

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Ray Famechon, European featherweight champion from France, chased Glen (The Wrong) Flanagan for 10 long rounds last night to whip the retreating St. Paul, Minn., Irishman by a unanimous 10-round decision to a chorus of boos. Famechon weighed 127½, Flanagan 127.

There never was the least doubt about the decision in this bout that marked the 25th anniversary of the opening of Madison Square Garden.

Only question all night was whether Famechon would pitch a shutout.

He almost did, losing only two rounds on the combined cards of three officials. Both referee Jack Watson and judge Bill Healey had it 10-0 and judge Art Suskind saw it 8-2.

New Friend for Michael

Little Michael Mahoney of 16030-106 avenue, isn't going to be too lonely this Christmas after all. You'll remember Michael as the seven-year-old who lost his dog Goldie about 10 days ago.

Edmonton people were deeply touched when I published Michael's letter asking help in finding Goldie. Well, people hunted high and low for Michael's dog. They brought stray dogs galore to the Mahoney home.

But none was Goldie.

One man brought a loveable little dog to Michael that looked a lot like Goldie. He made friends with Michael right away too.

So Goldie's Mom offered to keep him until the owner showed up. She ran ads in the newspapers but nobody claimed the little dog.

Michael named him Tip and the two are getting along just fine.

I suggested Michael keep Tip as long as nobody else seems to want him. That's what Michael's going to do and Tip is going to have a mighty swell home.

I didn't tell you before why Michael is so terribly lonely without his dog Goldie.

Michael lost a very dear brother just a few months before Goldie disappeared.

Maybe I should start a theatrical booking office.

Bill Morgan of the Sherbrooke Community League called up yesterday to see if I could find him an entertainer for a league Christmas kiddies' party. It's scheduled for the hall on Thursday, Dec. 21.

Bill is prepared to handle a big rush of volunteers at telephones 82014 or 86140. Don't be shy.

MICHAEL AND TIP

A charming goodnight to all and especially to nice-looking feminine store clerks.

Truck-Driver Cleared In Aged Woman's Death

A coroner's jury Friday cleared a young German immigrant of all responsibility of the death of an 83-year-old city woman when she was struck by his heavy truck last Saturday afternoon.

Completely exonerated was William Porisky, driver of a truck which struck and killed Mrs. Harriet Gaebel, Mount Royal block, at 4 p.m. Saturday.

EVIDENCE

Evidence showed that Mrs. Gaebel suffered multiple chest and abdomen injuries. The truck carrying an eight-ton ditch digger rolled over her body 35 feet from the pedestrian cross walk at 99 street on 118 avenue.

Albert Albright, superintendent of the city garage, testified that the brakes of the truck were only operating at 17 per cent efficiency.

He also testified that the engine was in only fair condition.

TESTED

Tested by Mr. Albright and his foreman, they found the top speed of the truck was only 15 miles per hour.

Asked of the stopping distance under such conditions by Provincial Coroner M. M. Cantor, Mr. Albright said that "at that speed and brake efficiency, the vehicle would take 75 feet to stop.

Porisky said he did not see the woman until she was directly in front of the truck. He immediately applied the brakes and the truck came to a full stop, after a short skid, 55 feet from the point of impact.

Although the jury brought in no rider, Dr. Cantor stated that in his opinion, "large vehicles carrying heavy loads not adequately equipped for driving in the city should not be allowed on the streets."

Three Sailors Die

Pelletier, who pleaded not guilty to the charge, was released on $2,000 bail by Magistrate Main.

New Pension Plan Considered for '52

Annual Cost of Boost Estimated at $3,500,000

Old age pensions in Alberta will not be extended until April 1, 1952.

Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of welfare, said the pension structure will remain in its present form during 1951. No increase in either the provincial government's share of the basic $40 a month pension nor in the supplementary allowance paid by the province is planned for 1951, Dr. Cross said.

The Dominion government recently suggested that old age pensions to persons over 70 years of age should be paid entirely from the federal treasury, with the provinces sharing half the cost of pensions to needy persons between 65 and 69 years of age.

AMENDMENTS

"Constitutional amendments necessary to establish this system could not be completed in Ottawa until Jan. 1, 1952, at the earliest," Dr. Cross explained.

"Alberta, therefore would not be able to institute the pension plan before about April 1, 1952, the beginning of the fiscal year."

According to preliminary estimates, there are about 31,800 persons between 65 and 69 in Alberta. Of these, between 40 and 43 per cent, or almost 15,000 would likely be eligible for a $40 a month pension on the basis of need.

With the province sharing half the cost of the pension to these persons, the annual cost of the pension extension would be about $3,500,000 for the provincial government.

Conductor Has High Praise For Miss Truman's Voice

By VIRGINIA MACPHERSON
Exclusive to The Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD—(UP)— Orchestra conductor Meredith Willson, who directed Margaret Truman in a radio appearance Dec. 2, has defended her against critics who say she can't sing.

Willson says she can.

"She's a terrific asset to show business," he said. "She has personality and looks and she added. "And she'd sing even if she knew she was a lot better than people think she can. Some smart producer ought to sign her up for an operetta on Broadway. She'd be great."

Willson, a top musician in radio circles for almost 20 years, took the issue with a recent critic who said Miss Truman was "flat."

"She's far from flat," Willson grinned. "In fact, she's a very, very 'thinker' when it comes to—and very 'sharp' young woman. She has got to hear the pessimists heid her own on "The Big Show."

"She definitely has a future in music," he said. "She has a natural talent for show business and it would be cheating the public if she gave up her music now.

"Many a star has achieved great fame without being able always to produce accurate and perfect musical sounds. Look at Mary Garden. She was world-famous in grand opera, she didn't have a perfect voice.

"Miss Truman has the added advantage of being a very pretty girl. When she looks up at you you know you're being looked at by a very lovely person.

"She has a forceful brilliance that sort of bowls you over."

BBC Play Bursts Time Straitjacket

'A Winter's Tale On CBC Runs Two Hours This Week

By Maury Soward

Another of those fine BBC radio plays is scheduled this week by the CBC.

It's a production of Shakespeare's "A. Winter's Tale," originally presented on the BBC with a full cast of English players and an original musical score. It has been transcribed and will be heard on CBC Wednesday night this week. 9 p.m. Edmonton time.

RADIO

The CBC's own dramatic productions have hit a pretty high standard, particularly the Stage Series plays and those especially produced for Wednesday night, but British productions are always an event on our national radio.

Among those heard in the last year or so have been Christopher Marlowe's "Dr. Faustus," Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra," and T. S. Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral." All have been outstanding.

RUNS LONG

Perhaps the most striking feature of these British productions is their cheerful obliviousness to the one-hour time limit imposed so rigidly here by our radio schedule makers.

In Canada only the Wednesday Night plays have been known to run for an hour and a half.

But "A Winter's Tale" accounts for two hours of radio time and even that isn't unusual by British radio standards. There, the radio schedule is loose enough to permit a dramatic or musical production to run as long as is necessary for a proper radio treatment of the production.

RESULTS

On this continent, all Canadian and American networks run by fixed schedules, unchanged from week to week. And the entertainment has to be fitted to the schedule instead of the schedule to the entertainment.

It's probably unavoidable, but it does result in some pretty sad programming, particularly in the field of drama.

Plays cut to the limits of the half-hour program fare worst of all. Far better results are achieved with plays especially written for the half-hour medium, as is the case with "Suspense" or the whodunits, even though the material might be weaker in content than something adapted from a book, play or movie.

For sports fans, the CBC's "Sports College" has Jack Kramer, Pancho Segura, Pauline Betz and Gertrude "Gorgeous Gussie" Moran on this afternoon at 5:30 p.m.

Lloyd Percival, director of the College and himself a tennis star will lead a discussion of training methods with the four stars, now playing Eastern Canada on their international barnstorming tour.

A new documentary in the field of news broadcasting made its debut on CBS at 9:30 p.m. last night. Called "A Report to the Nation," it will summarize the important news of the preceding seven days in world affairs, theatre, motion pictures, music, sports, drama, humor and human interest.

Narrator is Edward R. Murrow, who will combine the actual voices and sounds of people and events in the world news. Anyone who has done something unusual or has something arresting to say will be heard either on records or in person.

Assisting Murrow is CBS news analyst Don Hollenbeck, who will give a weekly round-up of national press highlights; humorist Abe Burrows, who will cover theatrical openings; and Red Barber, reporting on sports of the week.

Gift Worry Solved By Recordings

Got a "what shall I give for Christmas" dilemma? The solution is no further away than the telephone or a walk to the nearest phonograph record bar.

There is no greater pleasure you can bestow on your friends as giving them their favorite opera, play, ballad, or piece of jazz on records.

RECORDS

But before buying make discreet inquiries on your friends' musical taste, so you'll avoid sending a lover of Bach an album of Spike Jones' musical pranks.

The recording companies, perfecting the many new techniques, are in the midst of what will likely go down as the golden age of recordings, both in excellence of reproduction and in performances by artists.

Current recordings recommended as gifts are:

For opera lovers: Verdi's "Rigoletto," complete on three long-play records (RCA Victor); Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman," complete on three-long play records (Columbia); Mozart's "The Abduction from the Seraglio" (London). All are complete operas, in three long-play records.

For Gilbert and Sullivan fans: "Yeomen of the Guard," "The Gondoliers," "The Mikado," all complete, two LP sides each (London).

For lovers of exotic music: "Voice of the Xtabay," sung by Yma Sumac, possessor of a voice with a greater range than any female singer in the concert world or opera today (Capitol).

For lovers of piano music in the mellow style: The recordings of Charlie Kunz, of which there are now several score on the market (London).

For Dixieland Jazz fans: "From Austin High Comes Jazz," by Bud Freeman and his famous Chicagoans" (Columbia); "Jazz Session," by Bobby Hackett (Columbia).

For Hillybilly fans: "Songs of the Smoky Mountains," by Roy Acuff (Columbia).

Outlet Seen For Artists

Hobbyists with an artistic bent will find a brand new outlet for their creative energies in the exhibition of copper tooling opening Sunday at the Edmonton Museum of Art.

The exhibit consists of plaques and art objects molded from pliable copper by 20 students of the Edmonton Museum who received their first instruction in the new medium this fall.

The copper is especially treated before being shaped and molded by a special tool shaped something like a scalpel.

The technique was first introduced in Edmonton last winter by Doris Esplin who has since worked with Margy Nicholson in instructing art students in copper tooling at the Museum.

The exhibition will be unveiled Saturday afternoon and will be open to the public until Dec. 24.

City Artists Heard On CBX

Latest in the growing list of Edmonton-originated CBC programs is a "Concert Artists."

It's a hearty little musical program produced by Fred Diehl and featuring the music of Bob McMullan and his orchestra. You can hear it Monday's on CBX from 9 p.m. to 9:30.

FOR ALL THE "boom-boom-booms" you've been hearing lately, you can put most of blame on Phil Harris, left, who doesn't look very happy about it, and recording director Henri Rene, who encouraged song's author.

That Terrible 'Thing' Enjoys Tinpan Boom

By RICHARD KLEINER

The music business is going through a boom in boom-boom-booms these days. And it's all because of a song called "The Thing", a bouncy tune that is sending happy shivers up and down juke boxes all over the country.

In case you don't recognize it, by its official title, "The Thing", is that number that uses three rousing boom-boom-booms of the bass drum as part of the lyrics. To refresh your memory (which needs no refreshing if you live within carrying distance of a full-lunged disc jockey), it goes, in part, like this:

RECORDS

I turned around and got right out a-runnin' for my life,
And then I took it home with me to give it to my wife.
And this is what she hollered
at me as I walked in the door:
Oh, get out of here with that
X X X and don't come back
no more."

*(Copyright, 1950, Hollis Music Inc.)

Where those X's are, the lyrics give a direction to "stamp feet". Actually, most recordings have substituted three booming booms on the drum to hide the identity of "The Thing." Which has a lot of people puzzled. Just what is the horrible thing, anyway?

Take it from Charles Grean, manager of RCA's popular records department and the song's composer, there ain't no such thing as a thing.

"I just put some clean lyrics to an old song I've known for a long time. We used to sing some dirty words to it and it was known as "The Tailor's Boy," says Grean (pronounced Gree-on).

"I'd been trying for a long time to write nice lyrics for it, but I'd always put something definite in the place where we stamped our feet. That would ruin it, somehow. Finally, I decided to have nothing for the thing in the song. Then I worked it out in an hour and a half."

Grean says he changed a few notes in the music of "The Tailor's Boy," which he thinks had an Irish origin. Then he took the song out to California, where RAC's west coast recording director, Henri Rene, thought it would be a natural for Phil Harris. And it has been—his record is selling at a record pace.

That's the cold-blooded history of "The Thing." But it won't stop people from guessing at what "The Thing" is. New York disc jockey Martin Block conducted a contest. Here are some of the things people thought "The Thing" was:

SOME GUESSES

A transcribed commercial; Chloe; unhappiness; a marriage licence; the tail-end of "Mule Train"; a deck of canasta cards; a woman's hat; an 8-by-10 color shot of my mother-in-law; my landlord; one falsie; my boss; a K-ration; the little man who wasn't there singing a chorus of "Good-Night Irene."

The student nurses at St. Luke's Hospital write that "The Thing" was undoubtedly an interne at St. Luke's Hospital.

'One woman wrote that "the thing must be my husband. I have been looking for him."

It's just a moral or a lesson to the public that people should mind their own business," write another entrant. In the same serious mood, someone else said that it "must be a mirror—nothing else could scare so many people."

Grean himself says that most people he's talked to seem to think the scary Thing is a skunk. Most skunks disagree. If Grean had to say what answer he's heard so far he likes best, he leans to "unhappiness", because it's a serious, straightforward idea.

"The Thing, incidentally, is published by Tin Pan Alley's phenomenal young success, Howard Richmond. Richmond has been in the business less than a year, and already has published such hits as "Music, Music, Music," "Good Night Irene," and "Tze-Na, Tze-Na."

2nd Studio Theatre Play Is Rehearsed

Rehearsals are underway for "At My Heart's Core," second production of the Studio Theatre's 1950-51 season.

DRAMA

The play is the latest product from the pen of Robertson Davies, Canada's leading playwright, and is considered by many to be his finest work to date. Opening night is scheduled for Jan. 17, 1951.

"At My Heart's Core" is set in the Upper Canada of 1837 and concerns the struggle of immigrants of gentle breeding from England and Ireland against the hardships of pioneer life in the Canadian backwoods, near where Peterborough stands today.

DREAM THEME

The play takes its name from its theme, the secret dream which lies at the heart's core of each of the immigrants. The action develops when temptation reveals the possibilities of that dream's fulfillment.

The chief characters and incidents are drawn from actual personages and events in the Mackenzie rebellion of 1837 and lend an authentic atmosphere to the play.

The Arts

Strong Ideas Expressed By Famous Composer

The distinguished American composer, Aaron Copland, has strong ideas about the sort of music modern composers should write in order to best express themselves to the huge musical audience of today.

Taken from the graduation address he delivered recently to the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto is the following:

One hears a great deal of pessimism expressed not only about the arts today, but also about the world we live in. Nevertheless, in relation to music, we are really not doing badly at all.

If we think of ourselves as musicians in 1950, it is clear that we are living in a very challenging environment. We are living in a period which is exactly analogous to that when printing was first invented and people could buy books, have them in the home and read them.

Our musical media has been completely changed by the phonograph, radio, television, and last, perhaps least, the films. All these media have brought people into contact with music which they normally wouldn't have known about.

A composer, after all is a man who wants to communicate something. You don't write music just for yourself, you don't perform it just for yourself, you want to be heard, you're going out to somebody.

And the fact that millions of people can hear the same performance create music. I think changes the very nature of the thing that you are writing.

That is a very tough assignment. But it is worth anybody's trying to do.

TRUSTING PATIENCE SHOWS COURAGE OF YOUNG

ERNEST ATTEMPT to fight palsied condition and learn movement patterns against highest odds shows spirit and courage of the little people who daily visit the new Cerebral Palsy Clinic. Jimmy tries to walk with aid of ski-like boards. His arms are now strong enough to grasp the balance poles.

CHILDREN SMILE AT SMALL CONQUESTS

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPIST Kathleen Featherston has a kind heart and a pretty smile, plus her ability to help the cerebral palsied children to strength and a measure of happiness. Young Nora smiles with success when she conquers the mechanism of the mobile chair.

TOYS PART OF THERAPY

PLAY TIME is important in development of physical and mental agility of afflicted children. Toys are chosen for their value in this development. Robbie, left, learns to focus his attention on pegs to be hammered into board. Judy, Nora, Dwayne and Bruce watch and wait their turn.

Parents Urged to Contact Cerebral Palsy Association

Edmonton Cerebral Palsy Association was formed May 2, 1950.

Seven months of diligence has netted the association a temporary clinic, equipped with therapy apparatus, full-time salaried therapists and plans for a building which will be ready for use in late spring.

Seven months of hope, work, planning and soliciting for assistance and sympathy to the cause has brought a chance for near-normal living to cerebral palsied children.

Clinic, temporarily at 10560-105 street, was built by the government and is maintained by the association and Southside Kiwanis Club. New clinic building costs will be paid by government. Dormitories and kitchen will be added by Southside Kiwanis Club. Maintainance will be continued under existing arrangement.

Association president Alan McRae urges parents of afflicted children to contact administrative secretary Miss Phyllis Wright at the clinic, phone 26305.

Medical statistics show at least 80 per cent of palsied children may be guided and helped toward independence . . . if not completely normal living.

Local pediatricians, orthopedists examine children by appointment each Saturday morning at the clinic. Appointments may be made by contacting Miss Wright.

Cerebral Palsy, defined as a neuro-muscular disability caused by injury to motor centres of the brain, may be caused by injury before birth, at birth or later in life.

WALKING APPARATUS HELPS

PHYSIO-THERAPIST D. M. Leach is No. 1 man in life of little Jimmy, cerebral palsy victim. Adaptable walking apparatus combined with patience, will, and understanding, will help child relearn movement patterns.

HELPFUL ADVICE AND ENCOURAGEMENT SPEEDS REACTION WHEN CHILDREN PLAY

SPECIALLY DESIGNED chairs and tables make quiet play-time easier for children attending Cerebral Palsy Clinic. Jimmy colors roof of log cabin, while Barbara decides on color scheme of drawing. Miss Fetherston, occupational therapist, is just as interested in construction of log cabin as children. She holds wee Dwayne, who thinks another layer of logs are needed before the roof is added. Coloring, building, need forced attention and tend to improve co-ordination. Playroom is outfitted with as many "development toys" as limited funds will allow.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Last Minute Shoppers Have Six More Days

By Bea Thrifty

Well weary homemakers!

Here we are!

'Tis Christmas week of 1950 and spirit of joy to all should be wafting over our worldliness almost any old time now.

Little items such as ever-increasing cost of living put a bit of a damper on festivities this mid-century Yuletide. War clouds wrapped in international bickering and tied with the glitter of gold top Mother Earth's festive tree.

* * * *

But there's a few kind words of health, happiness and fa, la, la with news that even last-minute shoppers will have a chance to impress those on their Christmas lists.

* * * *

But before we bounce into that sort of thing let's whistle a little tune about tinned fruit juices that have taken a slap in the face of inflation lately.

Combined orange and grapefruit juices are dropping, . . . as the new pack of citrus juices begins to arrive.

Last year's frost-fix on citrus crops kept tinned juice prices high as high could be. Some brands of the combined brew have sold for as much as 62c per 48-ounce tin.

* * * *

According to chaps who have an "in" in the world of commerce, we may expect the fruit juice prices to drop as much as 29c per large-size tin.

* * * *

For the pert little housefrau there's a plastic apron and kneeling pad, quilted and ruffled and packaged to make a Merry Christmas gift.

For a glamour lady there's a permanently pleated nylon nightie in sea-coral shades, deep-water blue at fine 'n foolish prices.

* * * *

A sackful of time for the homemaker would make a terrific gift . . . but a next-best sort of thing is an electric timer for her stove. They're available at prices ranging from $4.50 upward.

If the lady on your list is Chinese-style decor minded spend $4.50 on a pair of plaque-like pictures showing three-dimension Chinese boy in one and girl in other, standing beside Ming tree.

* * * *

* * * *

Canadian pottery producers have come forth with numerous surrealistically shaped dishes, bowls, vases for housing centrepieces and flower arrangements.

* * * *

Such a pottery pretty, complete with set of graduated frog to hold flowers in place would wrap into an interesting parcel for Madame Homemaker.

Now we have six more shopping days 'til Christmas. Ouch!

A SMILE like Actress Eleanor Powell's may break out on any woman's face if she feels she's loved—maybe more especially if it were by Glenn Ford, her husband.

WHY GROW OLD

Woman Knows She's Loved; Stays Younger and Prettier

By Josephine Lowman

Nothing makes a woman feel younger or look prettier than the knowledge that she is well loved by some man.

Nothing gives life such a romantic glow as frequent expressions of this love. A bouquet of flowers, a kiss that is meant, a word or so of praise or flattery will send her singing through the day, no matter how old she is.

Also, there are many men today who live in modest homes but feel like kings and whose ego is much healthier than that of some who have just landed a million dollar deal. Why? Because the woman in their life has let them know how well loved they are—how attractive they seem to her.

It is too bad that marriage often becomes so mundane! It is not enough that the women care for the house and children or that the man provides a living. This is not all there is to marriage. No emotional state can remain the same. It either grows and improves or it deteriorates. garden does.

Marriage needs tending just as a

Whole atmosphere of marriage changes when the husband and wife are attentive to one another, when they have companionship together, when they laugh and play together as well as work together.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Opposites Attract, But Can They Marry Happily

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you believe that two people who are diametrical opposites can ever get along in peace and harmony?

The girl I am engaged to and I have not a single taste, thought nor habit in common, yet we love each other. What do you think of the future of such a marriage?

ARTHUR.

ANSWER: I think it is mighty likely to be a stormy voyage that will end in the divorce court. Maybe the physical attraction that you have for each other will be strong enough to enable you to survive the cyclones of temper and temperament that you will encounter almost continually, but I doubt it.

It is one of Nature's ironic jests to draw opposites together, because Nature is concerned only with the good of the species and not the happiness of the individual, but the very differences that attracted men and women to each other before marriage rend them apart after marriage.

Tobe on Fashion—

The "Little Foxes" Are Here

Borrowing the well-known verse from Ecclesiastes, "The Little Foxes" are here—only this time they are not spoiling anything but enhancing it.

For the single-skin fox stole or the small fox cape have come out of "another part of the fashion forest" to be one of the smartest of our "little" fur fashions.

White fox is the most dramatic of little foxes, especially as a short stole worn with a beautiful black silk taffeta or satin theatre suit.

But black fox and the new navy blue foxes are the choice of many very smart women for either daytime or evening wear.

Group of 30 young adults met recently to form the club and will meet every two weeks to carry out business of the organization.

Robert Gall was named president and other executive members are Edward Evans, vice-president; Grace Burton, secretary-treasurer; Olive Norman and Robert Proudfoot, entertainment committee; Mrs. Robert Gall, social convener.

Pensioners' Party On Christmas Theme

Music of Christmas carols flooded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fisher recently when members of Alberta Pensioners' Society Orchestra and their wives were entertained.

Orchestra's ten members played many favorite melodies. Presentation of gifts was made to each, on behalf of the society by Mr. Fisher, the president.

Assisting the hostess in serving lunch were Mrs. Cecil Waggat, Mrs. Thomas Waggat and Florence M. Wood.

Society will hold Christmas entertainment in Moose Temple, Monday at 8 p.m.

Santa's Welfare Workers In Midst of Holiday Aid

By Barbara Fosdick

"Operation Santa Claus" has already begun in the offices of Edmonton's Welfare Department.

This month, people receiving aid from the city are finding a welcome bonus in their allowances, which will help to buy those little holiday extras.

Bonuses granted by city commissioners are two dollars for single persons, three dollars to couples and five dollars for families. In addition names are submitted to service clubs and organizations for donations of Christmas treats.

CLEARING SERVICE

To avoid duplication in giving of hampers, Council of Community Services under direction of Miss Haseldine S. Bishop has set up a special clearing service.

Organizations providing families or individuals with gifts are asked to register name and address of that family by calling 28876. Callers will be immediately notified whether other plans have been made for the same family.

Council does not provide or distribute gifts but merely acts as confidential service and forwarding agent for cash donations received.

CASH PREFERRED

Welfare department procedure of donating cash rather than gifts is strongly recommended by Miss Bishop.

"Apart from its religious significance," said Miss Bishop, "Christmas is primarily a family day. Gifts of money restores to those families the ability to celebrate Christmas in the way which means most to them."

Sent to Council of Community Services, 10128 98 street, money will be forwarded to one or more social agencies affiliated with Council, for distribution to families known to need help in arranging for their Christmas this year.

Single Santa Plea Voiced by Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

Wish to see just one Santa Claus in each city was expressed by Rev. J. T. Stevens when he addressed Kiwanis Ladies Club recently.

"Having more than one Santa Claus confuses the minds of little children," said Mr. Stevens in his "Spirit of Christmas" message.

Meeting was held at home of Mrs. J. W. Fry, where Mrs. L. W. White, new president, received reports.

At election of officers Mrs. H. Maddison was named first vice-president; Mrs. H. B. Barrows, second vice-president; Mrs. J. R. Robertson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. M. Hill, recording secretary; and Mrs. W. Hawreiak, treasurer.

Additional officers will be named in January.

Serving lunch with hostess were Mrs. T. S. Webster, Mrs. G. W. Perkins, Mrs. H. A. Scott, Mrs. G. Greenwood and Mrs. Glen Taylor.

Mrs. White and Mrs. Cunningham poured.

No Veto Announced For 'Men Cussing'

NANAIMO, B.C. — (CJ) — Miss Elsie Hall, first woman alderman in Nanaimo's history, says the men won't need to worry about their council table manners.

"The men can still cuss if they wish and they can put their feet on the desks, too," she said in an interview.

Bride Says Vows From Stretcher At General Hospital

Plans for a quiet church wedding ceremony and a honeymoon in California were interrupted when bride-to-be Marguerite A. Lake was stricken with a serious malady.

Prospect of six months hospitalization put a crimp in the plans. Wedding bells were still scheduled to ring, but bridegroom-to-be Ernest F. Branch cancelled the California reservations.

A hospital room was substituted. Church altar and an altar call candelabrum completed the bride's wedding costume.

Church Women Add To City Relief Fund

City relief for Christmas fund will be swelled by proceeds of a home cooking and sewing sale.

Sale, to be held at the market square Tuesday, is sponsored by women's organization of Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Regina Girls Say 'Bye to Adventure; After 3-Year Trip

TORONTO — (BUP) — Two adventurous Regina girls are on their way west for the first Christmas at home in three years after completing a 45,000 mile round the world trip.

The girls—Iona Joslin and Kay Clews — spent their last three Christmases in New Zealand, Australia and South Africa.

They say it will be a nice change to have a Christmas with snow and ice, brightly-lit trees and winter festivities instead of hurrying off on a beach for swim on Christmas day.

Iona and Kay were working in the Regina Wheat Pool when the spirit of adventure seized them and they pooled all their resources to buy tickets for the most far-away spot they could think of—New Zealand.

Whenever they ran short of cash they worked at such jobs as waitresses at summer resorts, stenographers and dance hosts.

The girls almost spent this Christmas in England, but were fortunate there were two cancellations that made it possible to get space home on the "Ile de France."

Their favorite song?

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Uncle Wiggily stood up in his auto sled. The rabbit gentleman was looking at a flock of black crows flying overhead.

"CAW! CAW! CAW!" the crows sang. They circled around the auto sled filled with school children. The sled couldn't go because it had run out of gas.

"What is wrong, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the largest crow in the flock. "Why do you sit there in your sled with the Lady Mouse teacher of Hollow Tree School and the boys and girls? Why don't you take the children home out of the storm?"

"Because my auto sled has no gas to make it go," said Uncle Wiggily. "And there is no gas station near here to send me gas. Will you please fetch some, my crow friends?"

"CAW! CAW! CAW!" yelled the crows.

"What did they say, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Miss Mouse. "I do not understand crow talk. What did they say?"

"They mean 'YES! YES! YES!' Don't you, my black crow friends?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"That is what we mean, Uncle Wiggily," replied the largest crow. "We can fly fast through the air, even though it is filled with snow flakes. We can fly to the gas station, get some gas and bring it back to you as if we were little airplanes. But we must have some pails or bottles in which to bring back the gas. We cannot carry gasoline in our beaks as we carry grains of corn or wheat."

"Oh, dear me! I never thought of that!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Have you anything in which my crow friends can bring back gas from the station, Whitie?"

"No," answered the polar bear. "I have no bottle, no pail, nor dish to get the gas."

"I will tell you what we can do," squeaked the Lady Mouse teacher. "The children bring their lunches to school. Some of them have thermos bottles in which they bring milk. The bottles are empty now. If the crows take the empty thermos bottles they can fly back with them full of gas. How about that, Mr. Big Crow?"

"That will be fine, Miss Mouse," said Mr. Big Crow. "Ho, my crow brothers, fly down to Uncle Wiggily's auto sled. Pick up the thermos bottles. Then we will fly with them to the gas station."

"CAW! CAW! CAW!" cried all the crows. So they flew down. Each crow picked up an empty thermos bottle in his claws. Then the crows flew to the gas station.

There the bottles were filled with gas. Back through the air with the bottles of gas flew the black crows.

"Here you are, Uncle Wiggily!" cawed Mr. Big Crow. "Put the gas from the thermos bottles into your tank and your auto sled will go."

"Thank you! Thank you! Thank you!" shouted Uncle Wiggily.

The tank of the auto sled was soon filled with gas. Mr. Longears stepped on the starter. Away went the sled. After it ran Mr. Whitewash, his bells merrily jingling. And soon after that something happened.

I'll tell you about it tomorrow. If the stove doesn't try to play marbles with snow balls and melt them into puddles of water for the gold fish.

Bulletin Safety Club

EDMONTON BULLETIN SAFETY CLUB

Our first contest is now over. It wasn't too hard was it?

Remember, though, the contest does not close until next Friday morning.

Now, country members, send your entries in quickly, and pay attention, all of you, to these instructions:

1—Mark your answers to the eleven problems plainly, using either the coupons you have saved, or the coupon with all the problems printed on it.

2—Enclose in a standard size envelope (letter size) together with your name and address.

3—Mail, or bring, to: Safety Club Contest, Edmonton Bulletin, Alberta.

You may join the club right now by filling in and sending us the membership coupon and still enter the contest.

Watch for a new contest to start right after Christmas.

Our Safety Thought for today is: "Guard Christmas Pleasures by Safety Measures."

You are quite close to Christmas holidays and the thoughts of the fun you expect to have then; and the school party coming up; and all the excitement of Christmas. All this may make you forget to play safe.

So we ask you to "Always Be Careful" and especially so when your mind is so filled with anticipation of good times:

Remember the A B C of Safety: ALWAYS BE CAREFUL.

I PLEDGE.

To stop and look before I step
And cross with light on green;
Go to the corner of each road
Just so I may be seen.
To not run out between parked cars
Or play on any street.
"Always Be Careful" is to me
A motto I will keep.

Jones: "Why is your neighbor so unpopular?"

Smith: "He's fixed his lawnmower so you have to put a penny in it to make it go."

The Chief Constable of a small town was also a veterinary surgeon. One night the telephone bell rang. The Chief Constable's wife answered it.

General Store
at Golden Ridge, Sask.
FOR SALE AT SACRIFICE PRICE

This business, known as Imoff's General Store and located at Golden Ridge, Sask., near the Alberta boundary line, not far from Cold Lake, is a going concern. It is also the Post Office for a wide district, and this in itself means a substantial annual profit. The buildings are all in good condition and could not be replaced at the price asked for the entire business and land. Stock at present is valued at about $8,000 and this is included in the total price asked of $9,500. Mr. Imoff would consider a trade on an Edmonton house which must have a bedroom. Illness in the family is the reason the business is offered at so low a figure. See Mack Hallmark or Alex Hanson at or Weber Bros. for further particulars and for seeps of the store and buildings. There are also good living quarters for the owner. Phone Hallmark or Hanson at 2346 or evenings at 75813 or 41411.
